Police Board Acts To Modernize, Makes 3 Changes

Lieut. Simpson Is Named

Move

In order to modernize Kingston's police department the Board of Police Commissioners at the monthly meeting Thursday evening created the position of police captain, and named Lieutenant James V. Simpson as acting captain.

The board also named Sergeant Ernest A. Boss as acting lieutenant to fill the vacancy caused by the elevation of Lieutenant Simpson, and appointed Patrolman William J. Leonard as sergeant to fill the vacancy caused by Sergeant Boss's elevation.

All of the appointments are effective February 1.

It is understood that later the Municipal Civil Service Commission may hold promotion examinations for the newly created post of police captain, and also for police lieutenant.

Sergeant Leonard's appointment was made permanent. His name headed the eligible list for police sergeant that was filed with the police board by the civil service board.

Acting Captain Simpson and Acting Lieutenant Boss have both risen from the ranks. Captain Simpson served as superintendent of streets during the administration of former Mayor Roscoe Irwin, and later passed the civil service examination for patrolman, position he held until he was elevated to the position of sergeant and later to that of lieutenant.

Lieutenant Boss was first a patrolman having passed a civil service examination for the post, and later successfully passed an examination for sergeant and was appointed to that position.

Sergeant Leonard was appointed a member of the police force during the closing days of the administration of former Mayor Eugene B. Carey. At the time the police department decided to appoint four sergeants he took the examination and passed it, and at the present time heads the eligible list for that position.

Other cities in the Hudson valley have captains of the police department, and by creating that position here it is believed that more effective police work may result. In brief it affords the police chief more opportunity to leave the office to make investigations, and also the police captain.

All three men who were advanced in rank last night by the police board have had many years of police experience, and are well qualified to fill the positions to which they have been named.

Jack Delays Acceptance
Muskegon, Okla., Jan. 16 (AP)—Jack Dempsey, replying to an invitation to come to Muskegon and join the navy, said today that he was not in position to accept at present. He intimated he might act on the suggestion later. Navy Recruiting Officer A. I. Husted wired the invitation after the former heavyweight champ was rejected by the army because of his age.

The reply said: "I am not in position to accept at present, due to the fact that I am waiting to hear from Washington. However, I will advise you accordingly, after I know something definite."

Treasury Receipts
Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—The position of the Treasury January 15: Receipts $12,946,951.94; expenditures $79,178,897.76; net balance $3,258,113,614.25; working balance included $2,499,704,015.73; customs receipts for month $15,825,379.38; receipts for fiscal year (July 1) $4,442,610,870.67; expenditures for fiscal year $12,681,585,519.39; excess of expenditures $8,238,974.68; gross debt $38,528,901.51; 516.32; increase over previous day $108,496,189.15; gold assets $22,740,071,782.25.

Radio Is Placed Under Strict Rule By Federal Censors

Quiz, Man-in-Street, Spot
Programs Must Cease;
Certain Types of News Barred

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—Regulations to keep enemy spies from broadcasting military data to lurking submarines or secret stations over impromptu radio programs were issued today by the office of censorship.

Censorship Director Byron Price called on broadcasters to ban certain types of quiz and request programs and conduct forums and audience interviews with caution.

It was asked that no telephone or telegraph requests for musical numbers be accepted during the war, and that no given request be given at the requested time.

Request was made that "all audience-participation type quiz programs originating from remote points, either by wire, transcription or short wave, be discontinued" with certain qualifications. It was noted that any program permitting the public access to an open microphone "is dangerous and should be carefully supervised" and that generally speaking "any quiz program originating remotely, wherein the group is small, and wherein no arrangement exists for investigating the background of participants, should be discontinued." When large groups are involved, "where participants are selected from a theatre audience, for example, the danger is not so great."

In studio-audience quiz shows no individual seeking participation should be guaranteed participation, the code said.

Such quiz, request, interview and forum programs, the censorship office warned, might be used by Axis agents to communicate with their headquarters or with saboteurs through prearranged signals.

In addition, radio stations were told that because they were being heard abroad by Axis intelligence operatives, "certain material which may appear on the news service wires as approved for newspapers may not be appropriate for radio."

Price explained that while printed matter is censored at the national borders, "no such post-publication censorship is possible in radio." He announced that J. H. Ryan of Toledo, O., assistant director of censorship, would administer the radio code.

Besides all of the restrictions which the press has been asked to observe, the radio regulations call for extraordinary precautions to nullify attempts of foreign agents to use the air waves to send out information.

With this in view, Price asked that, generally speaking, the industry discontinue "any quiz program originating remotely, wherein the group is small, and wherein no arrangements exist for investigating the background of participants." This includes, he said, such programs as man-in-the-street interviews, interviews at airports and train terminals, and

Bergan Rules Hod Carriers Must Hold Election Sunday

Troy, N. Y., Jan. 16 (AP)—A state supreme court justice ruled today that Local 17, International Hod Carriers, building and common laborers' union (A. F. L.), must elect new officers Sunday as scheduled—its first election since 1937.

Justice Francis Bergan denied the request of 17 "rank and file" members of the union, which claims 6,000 members, for an order delaying the election on the ground nomination proceedings December 28 were "irregular."

The nomination and election were ordered December 13 by the Appellate Division upon request of the 17 members.

Justice Bergan also ruled present union officers must account by February 6, for funds received since reorganization of the local in 1936. The accounting also was ordered by the Appellate Division.

Furnace Corporation Sustains
Million Dollar Loss;
on War Contracts

Syracuse, N. Y., Jan. 16 (AP)—A wind-fanned fire which razed two of three buildings of the Lennox Furnace Corp., early today caused damage estimated by a company official at $1,000,000 and halted production of war materials.

Four firemen were overcome by smoke or injured fighting the blaze which broke out shortly before midnight.

Origin of the fire, which brought Federal Bureau of Investigation agents to the scene, was not determined. Arthur Cornelius, F. B. I. agent at Albany, said there was no indication of sabotage on the basis of information furnished his office.

Arthur W. Wrieden, general manager, said the destroyed two-story brick and frame buildings were valued at $500,000 and steel equipment and machinery at an additional $500,000. The loss, he said, included valuable records and plans appraised at several hundred thousand dollars which would require years to replace.

The following places of registration for Local Board area No. 315, which comprises the towns of Hurley, Rosendale, Marbletown, Olive, Rochester, Wawarsing and Denning have been designated for the registration:

Town Hall, Hurley.
Silas Roosa's Store, Rosendale Village.
Grange Hall, Stone Ridge.
Odd Fellows Hall, Olive Bridge.

Duke of Connaught, 91, Dies; Only Living Son of Victoria

Was Sponsored by Duke of Wellington; Was Queen's Third Son, and 'Darling'

London, Jan. 16 (AP)—The Duke of Connaught died today.

Last surviving son of Queen Victoria, the duke was 91 years old.

Death occurred at Bagshot Park, Surrey. He had been in failing health for some months.

Te career of the Duke of Connaught (pronounced "Connet") and Strathearn spanned four generations of British royalty and touched five reigns.

At the first of the many ceremonies of his long life—his christening—the same Duke of Wellington who conquered Napoleon Bonaparte held him in his arms as sponsor. The infant prince was baptized "Arthur" in honor of the victor of Waterloo.

The babe, born to a queen, on May 1, 1850, lived to see his elder brother become Edward VII, his nephew take the throne as George V and his great-nephews reign as Edward VIII and George VI.

He was Queen Victoria's third son and the seventh of her nine children. To her he was always "darling Arthur."

Americans had several opportunities to see him at close range between October 14, 1911, and October 16, 1916, when he served as governor general of Canada, the first British prince to hold an overseas post of this caliber.

Shortly after his tenure began at Ottawa, he made his only visit to the United States, coming unofficially and unaccompanied to "see the sights of New York." He was accompanied by the duchess and their popular daughter, "Princess Pat" and after several days in Manhattan went to Washington and called on President Taft.

While the United States later became accustomed to royal visits, they were comparatively rare in pre-war days and Connaught's jaunt attracted wide attention.

Primarily the duke was a soldier. He entered the military academy at Woolwich when only 16 and served in virtually every branch of Britain's land forces. As a junior officer he had a share in the skirmishes which accompanied the 1870 Fenian raid from United States soil into Canada, but his real baptism of fire came in the Egyptian war of 1882. At the decisive battle, the storming of Tel-el-Kebir, he commanded the guards' brigade and Sir Garnet Wolseley, a general who was sparing of praise, reported:

"The Duke of Connaught is well and behaved admirably, leading his brigade to the attack."

Missed Highest Command
The next year he was sent as a major general to India. Later he became lieutenant governor of Bombay and remained in the east until 1890. For the next 10 years he held important military posts at home. He was aiming to become commander-in-chief of the army but was passed over twice, Lord Wolseley getting the post in 1895 and Lord Roberts taking it in 1901. The duke succeeded "Bobs" as commander of the forces in Ireland and was in Dublin from 1900 to 1904.

Created a field marshal in 1902, he became first inspector general of the armed forces in 1904 and in 1907 went to Malta as chief of the troops stationed in the Mediterranean area. But he found this post "not active enough" and quit it in 1909 over the objections of President Favors Baseball for U. S.

F.D.R. Cites Recreational Value of Sport for Defense Workers

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—President Roosevelt, a baseball fan from way back, urged today that the national sport be kept going during the war.

This was his personal rather than official point of view, expressed in a letter today to Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball high commissioner, who had written on January 14 inquiring what the President had in mind regarding continuance of professional baseball in wartime.

Mr. Roosevelt pointed out that fewer people would be unemployed, that the people would be working harder and longer hours than ever before, and hence should have an opportunity for recreation taking their minds off their work.

He suggested, too, that there be more night games because they would give day workers a chance to see an occasional contest.

Mr. Roosevelt said that 300 teams, using 5,000 to 6,000 players, would be a definite recreational asset to at least 20,000,000 people and in his judgment this was thoroughly worthwhile.

Nine Men Are Killed

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 16 (AP)—An army bombing plane on a routine flight Wednesday afternoon crashed and burned 13 miles southeast of Boise, Idaho, killing the nine men aboard. Second air force headquarters released the information last night. Second Lt. Elmer M. Munn, Jr., of Fort Worth, Texas, was the pilot and his co-pilot was second Lt. Darrell S. Wing of Phoenix, Ariz. Others aboard included Private 1st Class Andre A. Chisholm, Woodside, Long Island, N. Y.

No Permit for Him

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—A local burgher, with a wife and 17 children, applied for a permit to buy new tires for his 21-year-old jalopy. He argued that he was eligible under two sections of the rationing regulation, because he used the car as a "bus" for the family and also for the "wholesale" transportation of foodstuffs. P. S. He didn't get the permit.

British Halt Japanese Drive in Malaya; Reds Smash Against Taganrog

Allied Morale Is Boosted as Aussies Fight at Singapore

Rangy, 'Fightin' Fools' Are Facing Invasion Foes
and Counter Drive
Is in Prospect

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Wide World War Analyst)

Well, they've finally flung the Australians into the battle of Singapore, and allied morale in those troubled parts has zoomed, as it always does when those rangy, fightin' fools go into action.

Unless the old signs have suddenly gone wrong on us, this means that the British have reached a position in their withdrawal down the Malayan peninsula where they figure not only on making a stand but on counter-attacking.

The Aussies are good in any type of fighting but they show best—and that means superbly—on the offensive. That probably is the reason they have been held in reserve until this crucial moment.

A commander doesn't just pick his troops haphazardly, unless he has to, but chooses them according to their racial temperament and capabilities. Some are better at holding a line, some in the difficult rear-guard fighting, and the very long suit of the Aussies is rip-roarin' attack, especially where there's hand-to-hand work with cold steel. We learned all that back in World War Number One.

By the way, the Australians in the last war thought the Yanks were great fellers, and the feeling was mutual. It was the American 33rd Division and Aussies who staged the first Anglo-American attack of history. That was on July 4, 1918, when the two outfits went over the top on the Somme and fought their way shoulder to shoulder to the capture of Hamel. It was a grand show.

Singapore Is Bombed

The Australians have gone into the British line about 120 miles up the peninsula from Singapore. Meantime the initial stages of the actual siege of Singapore itself has begun, with the Japanese making heavy bombing raids on the island.

Refugees have been pouring into Singapore from the mainland, and the authorities have prepared for eventualities by mining the great causeway which connects the island and the peninsula.

The greatest weakness of the British continues to be in war planes, and it is likely that the battle will turn on air-power.

The Dutch have turned to with a will and are fighting over Singapore with their allies. There also may be an indication that British air reinforcements are arriving as a communique from Singapore today states that "large forces" of British aircraft have been attacking the Japs on the Peninsula.

Russian Tanks Ram Against Nazis, Pull Trap Tighter Upon 100,000 of Foe

(By The Associated Press)

Masses of Russian tanks were reported smashing today at the gates of German-held Taganrog, 40 miles west of Rostov-on-Don, as Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's Red armies pressed a general counter-offensive through the Ukraine and tightened a trap on 100,000 Germans in the Crimea.

"The Soviet forces are now battering fiercely at the gates of Taganrog," a British radio broadcast said.

Russian troops were reported fighting the invaders a few miles from Simferopol, the Crimean capital, 40 miles north of Sevastopol on the railroad to the Russian mainland.

The direction of the Soviet thrust against Simferopol was not given—whether executed by troops driving westward across the peninsula from Kerch and Feodosiya; from beachheads at Sevastopol on the west coast, or from Sevastopol itself. In any case, the thrust against the main north-south rail line at Simferopol sharply endangered the Germans' chances of escaping.

On the basis of previous Soviet reports, the German forces at Taganrog had long since been isolated by Russian columns which by-passed the city in pursuit of the main Axis armies retreating along the Sea of Azov toward Mariupol.

Soviet front-line dispatches chronicled an unbroken series of Russian triumphs along the entire 1,200-mile battlefield from Leningrad to the Black Sea.

In the northeast Ukraine, Red army troops were reported heavily assaulting German forces at Khar'kov, Russia's "Pittsburgh" of the Donets river industrial basin, after piercing the city's outer defenses at several points.

On the central front, the phrase "history repeats itself" took on gloomy new significance for the Germans as Red army spearheads, adopting Nazi encirclement tactics, threatened half a dozen "anchor points" on Adolf Hitler's winter defense line.

A war map showing the positions of Soviet vanguards revealed all too clearly to Hitler that his strongholds at Kursk, Orel, Bryansk, Roslavl, Vyazma and Rzhev—key cities on a 350-mile defense arc—were endangered by the Soviet counter-sweep.

Russian troops who had advanced 100 miles westward from Kalinin in a month recaptured the Volga river town of Selizhino.

Spectacular Asiatic Fleet Triumph Is Reported in Western Pacific by U. S. Navy

Aussies Fight
Australian Wildcats
Plunge Into Battle for Singapore

By ROGER D. GREENE
(Associated Press War Editor)

A spectacular American naval triumph was reported by the navy today with the announcement that the U. S. Asiatic fleet has sunk three enemy transports and two large Japanese cargo ships in western Pacific waters, and further good news came in reports that the Japanese onslaught in Malaya has apparently been halted.

The navy acknowledged the threat of Axis submarines hovering off the Atlantic coast "remains unchanged," and it confirmed the torpedo-sinking of a foreign registry ship yesterday 20 miles off Long Island—the second victim in New York waters within 36 hours.

Survivors of the sunken craft are now being brought in, the navy said.

The blows struck at the Japanese in the Orient far outweighed accomplishments so far of enemy submarines off New York where in the last two days two friendly vessels have been sent down.

Tersely, the navy department passed out this statement:

"Units of the U. S. Asiatic fleet report the sinking of five enemy vessels in Far Eastern waters. They include two large cargo ships, two large transports and one medium-sized transport. These sinkings are in addition to enemy casualties at sea previously reported."

24 Jap Ships Sunk

That last line meant that 24 Japanese ships—non-combatant and warships—have now been sunk by the navy and marines.

There was no disclosure as to where the latest actions occurred. London heard an Axis report that the Japanese fleet was in action off the Philippine peninsula of Batan, where American and Philippine forces are still fighting back land and air attacks, but this report was accorded little credence.

The morning's war department communique told of incessant drives by Japanese attack planes and dive bombers against the front line and artillery positions of the American and Philippine defense forces on Batan.

Coast Guard officials at Quogue, Long Island, reported yesterday that one of their patrol planes had sighted an unidentified tanker which had been attacked by enemy warcraft and that the plane had dropped food and whiskey to 14 crewmen bobbing about in a lifeboat and raft in a heavy sea.

The first attack occurred in the post-midnight blackness of Wednesday morning, when the 9,577-ton Panama tanker Norcross was hit by three torpedoes and left in a sinking condition. All but two of the 40 men and officers were rescued.

In the Orient, the united nations' war effort appeared to have taken a brightening turn.

Bronzed, jungled-trained Australian troops, whooping into battle with a song, were officially credited today with smashing a column of Japanese tanks and infantry in their first engagement with the Mikado's invasion borders, and Britons in Singapore thrilled to a hope that the Malayan retreat finally was ended.

The Japanese-controlled Saigon radio asserted Japanese troops had advanced within 62 miles of Singapore. The claim, unconfirmed elsewhere, may be a typical example of Axis propaganda.

Official dispatches said Australian reinforcements, using the invaders' own jungle-fighting technique, were giving the Japanese "the hardest blow they've had in this war to date."

Police Department's Report Shows 1,835 Arrests in 1941

Annual Figures of Chief Put Traffic Violations as Leading Offense of Year in City

There were 1,835 arrests made in Kingston during 1941, according to the figures compiled by Chief of Police Charles Phinney and submitted in his annual report to the Board of Police Commissioners on Thursday evening at the city hall.

There were 1,170 arrests made for violations of the city traffic and state motor vehicle law, while there were 151 arrests made for disorderly conduct, and 275 arrests on charges of public intoxication. The other arrests were made for various offenses.

Chief Phinney pointed out in his report that during 1941 an auxiliary force of approximately 100 men, who had been schooled in police procedure in line with the local civilian defense program, had been organized here.

The chief reported further: "I herewith submit for your consideration, the 50th annual report of the police department of the city of Kingston. During the past year, members of the department have exercised more vigilance than in normal times by reason of our national Lend-Lease legislation and subsequently our entry into the world war.

This type of work necessitates exceptional alertness on the part of all officers to cope with the enemy within, relative to espionage, sabotage and subversive activities, and I can state in all sincerity that the members of the department have been most observant at all times in bringing to the head of the department information relative to suspects who might be harmful to our national set-up.

During the year 1941 an auxiliary force has been established and schooled in police procedure in line with our Civilian Defense Program, and at the present time our force has been augmented to a personnel of approximately 100 police officers for emergency duty; in addition thereto, appointments of three patrolmen have been made by your honorable body, thus bringing our personnel up to full strength, or, 37 officers in all, including the office force. By consistent work on the part of the patrolmen, traffic conditions are gradually becoming corrected, this is due to vigilance on the part of the patrolmen by making arrests for such violations in an endeavor to correct such violations, thus making our public streets safe for careful drivers and pedestrians; this type of police work should and will be kept up by members of the department in an effort to curb the recklessness of drivers who seem to have no sense of careful and prudent operation of motor vehicles, proof of which is, that during the year 1941, approximately 41,000 have been killed and 1,400,000 injured, or an increase nationally of about 18 per cent, what more need one say relative to safe driving.

The year, has been one of the busiest in the history of the department, having had to police a large number of special events, such as the Apple Blossom Festival, conventions, parades, athletic events at the municipal stadium as well as the municipal auditorium and a strike situation greater than has ever been experienced in this city, same lasting approximately six months, causing our regular officers to work additional hours daily and without additional remuneration, this work has been done willingly on the part of the patrolmen thus indicating the morale of the department at this time.

During the year, the Board of Police Commissioners have approved the purchase of four new Chevrolet automobiles and two new Harley-Davidson motorcycles, prowl cars to be equipped with two-way radios and motorcycles to be equipped with one-way radio. The purchase of this equipment is, I believe, to be approved by the incoming administration. Thus bringing all rolling equipment up to a high standard of efficiency. The work accomplished by all motor equipment is shown by the mileage as follows: Prowl cars, 120,261 miles and motorcycles 11,258 miles with prowl cars answering 1,439 emergency calls in addition to their routine calls during their respective tours of duty.

At the present time, all members of the department are on 24 hour call daily, no member of the department is permitted to leave the city at any time, including their day off without special permission from the chief of police, and in the event an officer leaves his home during his off time, he is ordered to inform members of his family as to where he can be reached immediately in the event of an emergency.

The department especially appreciates the confidence placed in it by the Board of Police Commissioners, and desires to convey to them their thanks for the co-operation rendered during the year. The department also gives expression of its appreciation for the good will, cooperation and support rendered it by the various city departments, citizens and press of the city.

Let me in closing express my personal appreciation of the splendid physical condition of the members of the force today. I wish to extend to them my sincere thanks for their loyalty and co-operation.

Peet Selected for Conservation Post

Ithaca, N. Y., Jan. 15—Harold Peet of Pike, New York, has been selected as vice-chairman of the Agricultural Conservation State Committee to succeed John S. Wickham of Cutchogue who resigned but retains membership in the group.

Mr. Peet becomes the active administrative officer of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration to relieve Ralph Y. DeWolfe who, as chairman of the Agricultural Defense Board of the U. S. Department of Agriculture by virtue of his office as A. A. chairman, will devote his entire time to that office.

The U. S. D. A. Defense Board is made up of the administrative heads of all the Federal agencies in the state and acts as a clearing house on defense matters for them with the federal department of agriculture.

The new arrangements will contribute to immediate defense efforts, Mr. DeWolfe said today.

Earl A. Flansburgh, executive assistant to the state committee, pointed out that Mr. Peet brings wide knowledge to his position. He has served on the Wyoming county land-use committee, the state land-use committee, and has been chairman of the state soil conservation board.

Mr. Peet will continue to live on his farm at Pike, but will establish an office in Ithaca at the headquarters of the agricultural conservation administration.

FEWER Kitchen Utensils Seen

Ithaca, N. Y., Jan. 15—Store shelves have fewer kitchen utensils, and it may be a long time before replacements can be had, according to Elaine Knowles of the New York State College of Home Economics, who urges homemakers to take good care of their utensils and to learn about new kinds.

Among her suggestions: To make aluminum utensils last, guard against pitting, caused by mineral deposits from food particles that collect on the inside. Keep the aluminum pans bright by prolonging their life. Slightly acid foods, such as tomatoes, rhubarb or apples, will brighten an aluminum pan, as will boiling a solution of water and vinegar in it.

Do not use strong rough powders on aluminum and never soak an aluminum pan in soapy water. If it must be soaked, use clear water, then rub it lightly with fine steel wool.

Light-brown spots on stainless steel utensils are caused by overheating and usually cannot be removed. Try not to overheat these utensils and make sure that sticky food is washed from them.

Glass utensils that take on a milky look may be cleared by boiling hot vinegar water in them until the deposit is softened; then rub them with fine steel wool. Hot soda water loosens burned food and grease.

Glass requires little heat after food starts to cook. Most persons use too much heat.

To get the best service from enamelware utensils, never let them boil dry and always cool them before pouring water into them or washing them. The porcelain coating or enamel, if subjected to alternate shocks of heat and cold will eventually crack off.

Food that sticks to enamelware should be soaked loose with boiling water or a solution of soda water. Do not use sharp-edged instruments and rough cleaning powders.

In buying enamelware, see that the utensils have an even coating without flaws and defects.

Even iron requires care. Thorough cleaning is necessary because iron absorbs flavors; also, skillets and pans coated on the bottom with burned grease require excessive heat. Drying and storing in a dry place prevent rust. Iron also may crack with too sudden change in temperature.

EDUCATORS Help in Machinery Program

Ithaca, N. Y., Jan. 15—The training of rural youth in high schools and institutes throughout the state meshes with the statewide program of farm machinery repair and adjustment, in which repair clinics, tractor tune-ups, and field adjustment meetings for adults are planned during 1942.

Since "victory in arms needs machines on farms," Dr. A. K. Getman, chief of the agricultural education bureau of the New York State Department of Education, has urged teachers of vocational agriculture in high schools, heads of departments of farm mechanics at technical institutes, and all school executives to cooperate with county agents and manufacturing agencies in the program under the general guidance of county agricultural defense committees.

He pointed out that a critical situation is ahead in maintaining and increasing American food production, and the current need is to put arm equipment in the best possible condition. It is imperative, he said, to use the present shop facilities and personnel to the utmost, and that all available public and private resources act together.

School garages, or similar buildings, it is pointed out, would make ideal places for farmers to bring their machinery for community repair clinics under engineers trained and employed by the New York state college of agriculture.

School Teacher Shortage Reported

Steps Taken to Remedy Conditions in State

Albany—Steps to overcome a serious shortage of elementary school teachers in New York state were taken at a conference held here to mobilize the resources of the New York state teacher-preparing institutions in behalf of national defense. The presidents of the state colleges for teachers and the principals of the state normal schools met all day Tuesday with Commissioner of Education Ernest E. Cole, Deputy Commissioner Lewis A. Wilson and Dr. Hermann Cooper, assistant commissioner for teacher education.

Following is the definite program which was developed and unanimously approved:

The elementary school teacher shortage reported from all parts of the state outside of the larger cities presents the same serious problems encountered during the last war. An adequate supply of properly prepared elementary school teachers was therefore determined to be the first and foremost responsibility of the teachers colleges and normal schools. There is also a shortage of qualified teachers in the fields of industrial arts, health and physical education and home economics. It is imperative that steps be taken to attract and hold properly trained persons in such fields if these important services are to be continued in the schools of our state. Approval of a small but indispensable appropriation by the governor and the legislature will make it possible for all 11 institutions to extend their services during a lengthened summer session thereby shortening the time required for the prescribed course of study. The four-year curriculum may be completed under these conditions by the summer of 1943.

The summer session will be shortened and graduation dates advanced in order to release students for the summer. Those who do not avail themselves of the opportunity to shorten their course in teacher preparation by attendance at the summer session will be available for civilian defense employment.

The content of the present curriculum, only recently revised, will be reviewed to insure special desired emphases in the national crisis. Ample time will be given to units of study dealing with the meaning of democracy, the American way of life and the need for preserving it, the responsibilities of citizenship in a war emergency and an understanding of those factors which will contribute to a continuation and improvement of democratic institutions in the post-war period.

The teacher-preparing institutions volunteered four hours a week of extra campus and off-campus service for each of their faculty members to assist in civilian defense activities. It is recognized that these institutions are peculiarly fitted to serve the needs of their regions. Many of these institutions have made regional studies of the special services which they can render.

The recommended programs and services announced by the State Education Department for the public schools of the state will be assisted by the teacher-preparing institutions specifically through the help to public forums, child development and parent education, physical fitness and recreation, morale building, public service training, training in home nursing and hygiene, general community service and the training of teachers to give instruction in these activities.

Wicks Measure Would Retain 72 Street Car Jobs

Albany, Jan. 16 (Special)—Senator Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston is sponsoring legislation today which would retain the present jobs of 72 street-car operators employed by the New York City Board of Transportation, who before unification were with the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Corp.

These men were to have been dismissed last November, but their dismissal was enjoined by a court order which later was vacated by the Appellate Division. The present Wicks Act prescribes that employees of B.M.T. and I.R.T., who had been employed for one year preceding the date of unification, were to be frozen into civil service.

The operators scheduled to be dismissed, having been employed by the B.M.T. for less than one year preceding unification, were continued as employees of the Board of Transportation, successor to the private operating companies, but were denied permanent civil service status.

The proposed legislation amends the Wicks Act by providing that every city and every public agency unifying, purchasing, acquiring and owning and operating a transit facility shall continue to employ all workers of the corporation which formerly owned and operated the transit company, who have been in the employ of the corporation for one year or more prior to the acquisition or who having been in such employ at the time of acquisition, shall have continued in the employ of the city for a period of not less than 18 months immediately following the acquisition.

Dr. Myers Tells Of Examinations Of Youth's Arm

Continuing the malpractice action in Supreme Court Thursday afternoon before Justice Russell and a jury, Dr. Douw S. Myers, defendant, testified that he had examined the fingers and hand of Harry Castiglione, plaintiff, on Monday, the day following the reducing of the fractured arm and found them to be normal. He also said he had examined the hand at later dates and on each visit he had given the hand a thorough examination because of the nature of the injury and since the youth had refused to remain at the hospital and under close observation, he had directed the parents to bring the boy to the office for such examinations.

Dr. Myers in reply to a question by the court said that in his opinion the difficulty in the arm which finally resulted in the amputation of the eight-year-old boy's fingers had been caused by a stoppage of an artery. The stoppage had been caused by the break which was just above the elbow. At the sessions of court Thursday Dr. Myers told in detail how he had treated the boy and demonstrated how the splint was placed on the injured member. He said he had followed the usual and accepted practice in the treatment and had considered the break of such seriousness that he had advised the boy's parents to have him remain in the hospital but the youth had declined to remain and he went home.

The boy, who suffered a fractured arm on September 8, 1940, when he fell from a saw-saw in his back yard, is seeking to recover $100,000 damages for loss of use of the arm and for damage to his hand where amputation of the fingers was necessary after infection set in.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JANUARY 16, 1942.

FEDERAL INCOME TAX

Many persons will file federal income tax returns for the year 1941 for the first time due to the lowering of exemptions for both single and married persons. Income tax blanks have been mailed to those who filed returns for the year 1940, but the new income taxpayer will have to secure his from his employer or from the banks or from the local internal revenue office.

Failure to receive a blank by any person, whether he has previously filed a return or is a first-timer, does not relieve him from the obligation of getting a blank and filing it. An income tax return is also required to be filed by persons who come within the category despite the fact that there is no tax to be paid. Single persons having a gross income of $750 or more and married persons having a gross income of $1,500 or more are required to file returns.

A series of articles on federal income tax appears daily in The Freeman. These articles are designed to assist taxpayers in arriving at their tax and they cover such subjects as "head of family", gross income, net income, surtax net income, items exempt from tax, deduction for taxes, interest, contributions, debts, depreciation, etc.

An optional form, which is simplified by the reduction of the number of calculations, may be used by taxpayers whose gross income is not more than $3,000 and is only from salary, wages and compensation for personal services and from dividends, interest, rent, annuities and royalties.

A full and fair accounting of all income received by every person having a reportable income is demanded by the law. Aside from this, there is the patriotic duty to say nothing of his conscience. Every dollar will be needed to pay the mounting costs of armaments in order to successfully defend our country. If taxpayers are to take advantage of every technicality in the law, the desired total will not be attained.

Purchase of defense bonds and stamps are patriotic gestures, but they carry with them an obligation in both principal and interest. Income tax moneys help meet these obligations and obviate greater borrowing upon the part of the government.

Every loyal American citizen should honestly and cheerfully pay his income tax.

A SENATORIAL SCHOLAR

The extraordinary feat of Senator Elbert D. Thomas of Utah still impresses us. It will be recalled that he recently gave a radio talk in Japanese—a short-wave New Year's address to the Japanese people, showing how their rulers had deceived them and were leading them on the road to destruction. The senator modestly said: "If but one person in Japan hears me, my effort will have been worth while."

What other country has a member of the national legislature capable of such a feat? Perhaps the British Parliament, with its many veterans of colonial and diplomatic service; but we doubt it. Certainly the yes-men of Hitler's Reichstag include no such expert.

It is not the first time that Senator Thomas has distinguished himself. He first came to country-wide attention when ten years ago he unhorsed that veteran of many political battles, with 30 years in the Senate behind him, Reed Smoot. But before that, Senator Thomas, as a professor of political science in the University of Utah, published an important book entitled "Chinese Political Philosophy." Moreover, perhaps as a result of his five years as a missionary in Japan, he issued a book in Japanese, called "Sukui No Michi," or, in English, "The Road to Salvation."

Such training as his should be doubly useful in times like today.

ROAD TO REUNION

Why are we a united people? Apart from all other difficulties, the Civil War and Reconstruction tore North and South violently apart. By all normal experiences of history, the conquerors should have oppressed the conquered, and these should have repaid in hate. Yet, as we all know, the wounds gradually healed till the Spanish War in 1898 testified to the whole world that our country was again one.

The why and the how have been recently explained in "The Road to Reunion" by a Harvard professor, Paul H. Buck. All sorts of factors contributed, such as economic and social contacts, the replacing of the embittered older generation by young men and women who were willing to look at sectional relationships from a fresh viewpoint, the passing of the politician "wavers of the bloody shirt," sympathetic literary studies of the one section by writers of the other. Whatever the causes, thirty years after Appomattox we were a united nation.

Some day like unifying forces will do their work in Europe. But before the patient can recover, the cancer must be cut out of the system.

WAY TO WIN

The only way to win a war is to work like hell and fight like hell, as a national team. People, or at least our kind of people, are naturally humane and soft-hearted. This is to our credit, and it is right as long as we continue applying our humanness to our own people and our humane associates in this war. But to win, we have to "stiffen the sinews, summon up the blood, disguise fair nature with hard-favored rage," and so on, as Shakespeare's King Henry explained to his troops.

Such procedure, to be sure, is not civilized. War is not civilized. We all know that. But "when the blast of war blows in our ears," we have to de-civilize ourselves for the time being, with regard to the enemy. To avoid destruction, we have to destroy the destroyers. There is no other way.

According to one observer of the world, the human characteristic that lasts the longest is the faculty of making oneself disagreeable.

War budgeting is not finance or logic; it is magic.

First we filled the roads with cars, and now we fill the skies with planes.

NO IMAGINARY SYMPTOMS

So much advancement has been made recently in laboratory knowledge that for a time some "middle-aged" physicians felt that they were getting "behind the times" and might well take a course in laboratory training; it would be so much easier and they would be more likely correct in diagnosis by acquiring this knowledge.

However, these physicians found that many of the younger physicians were depending too much on their laboratory findings and if they did not find what they were looking for by laboratory methods, they dismissed the patient by telling him that there was really no organic trouble present.

However, the patient still had his symptoms, so he consulted one of these middle-aged physicians who, after making a thorough examination and finding no organic trouble, realized that the symptoms, while real, were due to some emotional disturbance. He had learned by experience that symptoms are not "imaginary." By consulting the personal and family history he has written down and asking the patient a few questions, the physician often finds the cause of the emotional disturbance causing the symptoms. In most cases he is able to give helpful suggestions that cure or give relief.

An editorial in Clinical Medicine states: "When a patient comes to a physician it is because that individual is suffering in one way or another or is alarmed over some unusual condition (real or fancied) in his physical make-up or his sensations or both; and that, also, is a form of suffering."

"The physician's job is to find out what is causing the patient's distress—whether it is a disturbance of one of the organs, or some shock or dislocation of his emotional or mental life—and then do everything in his power to remove or correct whatever is wrong."

If physical examination, including laboratory tests, fail to show a physical cause for the "symptoms," then the personal and family history must be investigated. The cause will usually be found.

I have spoken before of the patient who, after consulting three physicians all of whom stated that they could find no cause for the symptoms, consulted a fourth physician. Before he was examined he told the fourth physician of his experience with the other three.

The physician pointed out that he had not told these physicians about what was "on his mind," what was worrying him. The patient then told the whole story and the physician was able to help him.

BABSON ON BUSINESS

GET OUT OF DEBT

Babson Says,
 "Save and Spend Wisely"

Babson Park, Fla., Jan. 16.—The recent report of the Committee on Non-essential Expenditures headed by Senator Byrd is a step in the right direction. This committee has recommended slashes in non-defense governmental expenditures which could result in savings totaling $1,716,965.061 during the coming fiscal year beginning July 1, 1942. In all probability the committee's suggestions will not be adopted in toto. There is, however, considerable sympathy in official Washington toward many of the suggestions. Unquestionably, substantial savings will be made in Farm Aid, Public Works, W. P. A., C. C. C., and N. Y. A. expenditures as was indicated in the President's budget message.

The Federal Debt

Even if a great part of the above-mentioned sum is withdrawn from non-defense measures it will not have much effect upon the national debt. Savings will undoubtedly be transferred to the armament program. Here at least continued expenditures are absolutely necessary and will be of more immediate practical value. In a fighting war, it is essential that national expenditures rise to a maximum for offensive action and that other expenditures be kept to a minimum.

Those who have reduced their personal debt need not now be concerned over the national debt though I expect it to be over $75 billion by the end of the year. Expenditures for direct and indirect individual federal aid for the past six months of the current fiscal year alone have reached a total of $1,081,000,000 compared with $1,560,000,000 for the six months of the previous year. While there have been a great many complaints yet, in time of dire national stress this money served a most useful purpose. It took men off the streets who might have become a great social menace and helped many needy farmers.

Expenditures Justified

I do not regret the increase in taxes that my share of our social program has cost. Many persons are too quick to forget the angry cry against unemployment, poor housing, low standards of living, and other defects in our social structure. Mr. Roosevelt did not make these bad conditions, although they have reduced their corporate or personal debt proportionally. Profits have helped many companies to cut their loans. The rise in engineering construction and residential building has increased local tax receipts. Municipalities, as a whole, are in a much sounder financial position than they were a few years ago. The rise in both commercial and savings bank deposits, in the purchase of life insurance and Defense Bonds shows that many individuals are getting out of debt. Are you—my reader—one of these lucky ones?

In this last category, the government itself is setting a good example in not making these bonds negotiable. Defense Bonds are being paid for in cash which, in effect, is transferring one form of savings account to another form. Their purchase by individuals, trustees, associations, and corporations is certainly not increasing our personal debt. In its tax-anticipatory notes, the government is also encouraging individual and corporate savings against future expenditures. This is helping you to establish a "pay-as-you-go" program which I beg of you to do.

Conclusions

Debt has probably caused more misery than any other single factor in our daily individual lives. The high wages and profits of World War I brought about the installment buying system. This undoubtedly proved a great convenience to countless individuals; but in the main it greatly aggravated the post-war depression. There is a vast difference between a government getting into debt and an individual getting into debt.

In the first instance, if pressed too far, the government has means of devaluing its money or printing new money. This, of course, works hardship upon many, but at the same time is quite different from personal bankruptcy or "going on the town" which the individual faces when he spends beyond his means.

Private Debt

I have said before in this column that while national debt has risen, yet the private and public debt of many individuals, corporations, municipalities, and states has declined. This is another reason why I have not become greatly concerned by the increase in the national debt especially in the case of those who have reduced their corporate or personal debt proportionally.

Profits have helped many companies to cut their loans. The rise in engineering construc-

Time Will Be Required to Write Out Order Defining Nelson's Duties
 By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan. 16.—The first flush of enthusiasm over the appointment of Donald M. Nelson as production administrator has been tempered somewhat by the news that it is going to take a week or so to write out an executive order defining his duties and that the delay is due to the desire to find out what kind of powers Mr. Nelson wishes.

The sounds like many of the previous experiences which the American people have had with procrastinating bureaucracy in Washington. Always there is somebody's voice not to be trod upon. Or perhaps there is concern lest some New Deal reform may be tampered with. There are the sacred precincts which previous executive orders and shuffling and reshuffling of agencies have seemed to be careful to avoid in the past.

It does seem strange that a simple order telling Mr. Nelson that he has plenary powers to get the production program fulfilled would take a week to write. It seems strange, too, a minister of supply would want a set of specifications when everybody knows that in war the job is to get first things done first and make everybody pitch in.

The obstacle may be one that has been encountered before—an unwillingness on the part of the President really to delegate power. This is understandable. He is the elected head of the people and his is the final responsibility. But in business, power is delegated and the check comes when the individual to whom the power is delegated falls down on his job or stretches his authority too far. Then his head is chopped off very promptly. As long as Mr. Roosevelt can revoke Mr. Nelson's authority overnight, there need be no fear about giving him full powers even though they do cover some of the prerogatives hitherto exercised by the President himself.

The cry for a one-man production authority has been going on for several months. Mr. Roosevelt has heard it but he has chosen to ignore it. He has believed presumably as do the British, that we can muddle through. America is sometimes lucky and she may be right, but the American people would feel a lot more comfortable if the President didn't worry so.

It is not an occasion for legalisms or technicalities or for soothing the feelings of anybody whether personally or politically in the President's affections. It is war and Americans are dying in the Philippines and on the high seas, because we don't have the planes and the ships and the weapons to help them keep the enemy away from our lines. Returns of Income Of Deceaseds

A return is required to be filed for a deceased individual if the gross income to the date of death is $750 or over, and the individual was single, or married and not living with husband or wife for any part of the taxable year, or if the gross income to the date of death is equal to, or in excess of the credit for personal exemption (not including credit as head of family for dependents), and the individual was married and living with husband or wife for all or part of taxable year. The return for a decedent must include all items of income and deductions accrued up to date of death, regardless of the fact that the decedent may have kept his books on a cash receipt and disbursement basis or did not keep books.

The income return of a decedent for the year in which he died is considered a return for 12 months and not for a fractional part of a year, and is due on the 15th day of the third month following the close of the taxable year during which the decedent died. After his appointment and qualifications, an executor or administrator may immediately file a return for the decedent without waiting for the close of the taxable year.

WOODSTOCK

Woodstock, Jan. 15.—The fourth quarterly conference of the Methodist Church was held in the church building on the evening of January 14. The meeting was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Carroll, district superintendent. Representatives of all four of the Woodstock churches were present and gave reports. The fiscal reports showed the church in fine condition and there is a surplus on hand in a number of the departments.

The Sunday Schools, women's organizations, the Epworth League and Men's Club reported. Sherman Short addressed the meeting and outlined the excellent work done by the pastor, the Rev. Lester Haws. He emphasized the progress that the church had made during the last year and moved for the return of the pastor. The vote was unanimous. Before the conference meeting in the church, there was a covered dish supper in the adjoining hall from 6:30 to 7:30 o'clock.

The Rev. Mr. Baker of the Woodstock Lutheran Church conducted the funeral services of Mr. Tiller of West Hurley Thursday afternoon.

A fellowship meeting of the Methodist Church young people will be held in the Shady Hall Friday evening.

The Woodstock Men's Club of the Methodist Church will attend a meeting of the federation at the Kingston Y. M. C. A. Wednesday evening.

Washington—Government officials and automobile association leaders are in a huddle over a problem that already has been reported from numerous sections of the country—the theft and bootlegging of auto parts, tires and even cars.

No sooner had Price Administrator Henderson announced the rationing of tires, autos and replacement parts than the whole country broke out with a rash of petty thievery of tires and parts and the theft (already a felony on both state and federal statute books) of cars.

Officials fear that big-time crooks and racketeers, taking a page from the days of prohibition, might try to organize the petty thieves into rings and by wholesale operations seriously undermine the curtailment program.

Henderson's OPA is interested in the problem only in so far as it could, through its psychological and moral effect on the blinding public, place a stumbling block in the smooth development of tire, car, and parts rationing.

Realizing this, the American Automobile Association and several other agencies have asked Henderson to propose a bill to make the theft of tires, parts and accessories a federal offense.

Thomas P. Henry, AAA president, in his appeal to Henderson said, "The widespread thievery is creating a bootleg market for illicit trade in these important commodities. This situation will develop into worse proportions unless strong measures are taken to counteract it."

This may look fine in print, but reducing it to actual application in everyday prosecution of community and state offenders is another matter. To make the thefts of tires, tubes, parts, etc., a federal offense when committed in intra-state traffic, would require a constitutional amendment. The only comparable one we have in the Constitution now is that applying to narcotics.

I don't think the AAA or any other organization or agency really hope to see any federal law passed which would eliminate this threat against one of the all-out war measures.

What they do hope and expect is that the individual states will take cognizance of the problem and pass laws which make tire and part thefts, heretofore for the most part no more than a petty offense, a felony.

In New York State, the legislature already has loaded its legislative guns to prevent this new type of bootlegging. A law has been introduced to make the theft of even an aluminum hubcap a felony, that could land a man in the Big House up to Hudson for many times 30 days.

When a two-by-four hoodlum knows that he is up against a year or more in the penitentiary, there will be none of that sneaking around alley corners with a "Hi, Mister, how'd you like to buy a fine inner tube—just off the boat from the Dutch East Indies, where they grow the stuff, it's 100-proof. I wouldn't sell me own mother none of that re-cap stuff, Mister, you know that."

Motorists in Florida who want a certain serial number will pay $1 for the privilege, and the revenue received will go to dependent children.

Public Hearing Is Held on Tires At Court House

Outside of the clarifying of a number of points in the provisions of the government order limiting the purchase of new rubber tires and tubes, several questions brought out discussions of interest, at the conference held at the court house Thursday afternoon.

The conference, attended by members of the county and city rationing boards, garage men and others, was called by County Rationing Administrator Edgar T. Shultis, specifically to meet with Herbert E. Conklin, a representative of the state department.

Captain Conklin (he fought overseas and was with the first American troops in battle at Cantigny), has been for some years an inspector with the federal service. He was assigned to the office of Sylvan Joseph, regional director of price administration, 122 E. 42nd street, New York and from there, at the request of the State Rationing Bureau, was sent with other inspectors who are making a county by county tour of the state, explaining the details and workings of the rationing program.

The captain said that he was not a stranger to this section, having in 1915-16 played center on the old Delphis of Wappingers Falls, "who more than once trimmed the local team," and he also later played with the Celtics.

Before opening the conference to questions, Captain Conklin discussed somewhat the situation faced by this country as regards the need by the War Department of certain vital products to aid in the manufacture of war material.

One of these was rubber, of which he said there was an actual shortage today, with less than three months supply for the normal demand of the armed forces. In normal times 70 per cent of the rubber imported goes for auto tires and tubes, but with the increase demand for armament purposes use of rubber for civilian use must be drastically curtailed.

The other days it was an axiom that the army "travels on its belly." That is changed today and it should be said that the army travels on rubber.

The captain said that from time to time attempts would be made to override the members of the tire rationing boards and pressure brought to favor some individual.

He said that he had no doubt but that their decisions would be unbiased and unprejudiced and advised them to lean toward the severe side and not to the liberal side.

May Expect Violations
From time to time violations of the rationing order will be reported, he added. These must be reported to the county administrator and by him to the state director, who would make an intelligent investigation and bring about the arrest and conviction of the offender if found guilty. The state director is the right man in the right place and a very severe disciplinarian it was stated.

In the question period which followed, many points were brought out and the questions either were answered at once or referred to County Administrator Shultis, the latter to take the matter up with the state board. Among the points covered were: Regulations forbid equipment of 1942 cars with a spare. Suggested that a recapped tire be used for a spare.

Industrial nurses and nurses whose duties do not call for general travel are not in the eligible classification.

Farm vehicles used for retail purposes are not eligible. In case of milk delivery which is both wholesale and retail there would be a question for the local board. If 75 per cent of the delivery is to the creamery, he would be in the eligible class.

In the case of a nurse who is married and the car is registered in the husband's name, she is not in the eligible class, although she may be otherwise.

The matter of inspectors came up for considerable discussion and it appeared that inspectors had not yet been named throughout the county. Administrator Shultis said that work was being taken up at once. Captain Conklin said that inspectors should be distributed geographically, adding that they were federal officers and would be held accountable for any statements made. Wherever possible it was advised that experienced tire men be made inspectors, rather than the purely gas station attendant.

In this connection, Captain Conklin suggested that Ulster county might not have even a quota of 290 tires for January. He said "there is no indication that you will have even 100 tires in February."

William L. Douglas of the town of Wawarsing defense committee was present with E. Gordon Jansen and brought up the question of a separate tire rationing board for that town. He called attention to the fact that Ellenville and the town of Wawarsing constitutes a large center of population, located in the far western side of the county, the population of the town being over ten per cent of the total for the 20 towns of the county. He said that under the present set-up, especially with no local inspectors as yet, applicants were forced to make a round trip of some 60 miles to Kingston to make application for tires. He questioned whether the town would get its share, based on population, under the present set-up, and noted that the Red Cross had agreed to a separate branch at Ellenville for the work in that section.

Captain Conklin said that the government would consider any recommendation made by the county administrator in this respect, but said that a change such as Mr. Douglas referred to might result in the town securing less rather than more tires, as experience had shown that small units of rationing sometimes worked against a fair distribution. Wawarsing might get less tires

Hearing on Tire Rationing Is Held

Yesterday afternoon a hearing on the rationing was held at the County Court House under the direction of County Rationing Administrator Edgar T. Shultis, shown at the right in the above, and was addressed by Captain Harry E. Conklin, left, representing the United States Government Office of Price Administration. The hearing was attended largely by both tire salesmen and the public.

if distribution was based on population.

John M. Cashin brought up a question that had been submitted to the city rationing board, the application of Merrill M. Peck, chief city electrical inspector.

Two members of the board had expressed their opinion on this application for tires, with one in favor and the other against granting the application.

Mr. Peck appeared and contended that his work was essential and that he was eligible in that his inspection was essential for all electrical installation and repair work in the city and that unless he could have transportation facilities it was possible the emergencies might arise that would affect the public health, such as in the case of hospital work.

Captain Conklin held that Peck was not entitled to new tires under the provision of the order, unless his car was used exclusively for work specified in the order establishing the eligibility classification. He was advised to secure recap tires for his car.

Administrator Shultis, replying to some of the suggestions that had been made, reminded those present that "war is hell."

He said that every attempt was being made to apply the rules of common sense to the work of tire rationing and to accomplish the greatest good for the greatest number.

Warrant Made Out For Man Who Left Plant With $300

Thursday was pay day at the plant of the Kingley Made Flocks, Inc., at 38 Broadway, but the employees had to wait for their money as the check for $300 intended for the pay roll had been cashed but the man who cashed the check had failed to return from the bank with the money.

That was the gist of the story unfolded today to Judge Matthew V. Cahill in his office in the city hall, when Sam Seigel of New York, proprietor of the plant, called on the judge to swear a warrant for one Harry Porter of 11 Wurts street, who was employed in the office of the dress factory.

Judge Cahill issued a warrant for the arrest of Porter on a charge of grand larceny, second degree.

According to Seigel's story to the judge he had sent the check to cover the amount of the payroll to Kingston as usual. He said that Porter took the check and cashed it at one of the local banks, and then, instead of returning to the factory, he had gone home where he had taken an automobile registered in his wife's name and drove away.

Since then the man, automobile and the $300 have disappeared.

Somebody asks what happens if the Japanese capture this great naval base which is the key of the allied defense in the Far East. Where do the allies go from there?

First off, Singapore hasn't been lost yet, and the British may be able to hang onto the citadel itself. However, as this column has said before, unless allied air reinforcements arrive, the Japanese likely will be able to render the base useless for warships. In that case Singapore would be fairly impotent, although it is of vast importance to keep it in British hands, pending the time when the allies can assume the offensive in the battle of the Pacific.

Unfortunately Singapore is the only base in that theatre capable of taking care of a big naval concentration, and under normal circumstances both the American and British fleets could be accommodated there. If it is rendered useless, one assumes that the fleets will divide into units which will base on the Dutch East Indies, so long as the Japs can be stood off from those islands, and after that might retire clear back to Australian bases.

The allied position at this moment isn't particularly alluring. The indications are that the Japs are going to capture a lot more territory. That will create a big job for the allies, but it may not be so huge as it appears at first glance.

As it looks now, we shall not have to take the numerous islands back, one by one. When the time arrives that the allies can put a great force of bombers over Tokyo and other Japanese cities, and start tearing them up by the roots, the islands will come back to us automatically. That is to say, when the Mikado's mainland has to give up the whole Nipponese structure will collapse.

Drops Dead at Home
Gilbert Zimmerman, 68, dropped dead in the kitchen of his home, Bellevue road, Highland, on Wednesday morning. He had been in failing health for some time. His housekeeper, Mrs. Cora Daley, discovered the body. She summoned Dr. Carl F. Meekins and he pronounced Mr. Zimmerman dead. Mr. Zimmerman is survived by one sister, Mrs. Clarence Elting, and an aunt, Mrs. Uriah Decker, both of Highland. Funeral services were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the C. B. Carpenter Funeral Parlor with the Rev. F. A. McCormac of the Methodist Church officiating. Burial was in Highland cemetery.

United States consumption of petroleum products increased more than 12 per cent during 1941.

Invited to Return
The committees from West Hurley, Glenford and Ashokan have invited the pastor of the Methodist churches of those villages to return to the charge for another year. The quarterly conference voted unanimously to ask that the pastor, the Rev. Robert B. Guice, be returned to serve for the second year.

HOW TO LIVE FOR LESS
Denim has become the uniform of millions in defense, and should be purchased with close attention to labels and details of workmanship. It is almost a waste to buy unsprung goods. Under U. S. specifications, denim comes in four weights. The "220 weight" (220 yards, 28 inches wide weighs a pound or more) is strong enough for most factory, farm work. Heavier denim is stronger, more expensive. For a more tightly woven, dressier fabric there are twill, covert or drill. Look for weight of fabric, pre-shrunk label, well-lapped seams, double or triple stitched, rust-proof buttons. Workshirts should have the same qualities. Double elbow sections are desirable.

One Killed and 178 Injured During 1941, Report Shows

Annual Figures Are Given by Local Police Chief Showing Total of 123 Accidents

"AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

The other day Mrs. James Pruden, who resided for many years on West O'Reilly street, presented me with a souvenir program of the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the incorporation of the city of Kingston, which was held in the Kingston High School auditorium on April 2, 1922.

Mrs. Pruden has been a resident of Kingston for many years and recalls the days when Kingston and Rondout villages were united and the city of Kingston formed. Several years ago under the title "A City is Born," I wrote the history of those historic years, which was published in The Freeman, and at that time Mrs. Pruden told me of many interesting events in connection with the birth of the city.

The golden anniversary of the city was appropriately celebrated in 1922, with exercises held in the high school auditorium. Mayor Walter P. Crane presided at the exercises, and the music was furnished by the high school orchestra.

The exercises opened with the invocation by the Very Rev. Dean John W. Hickey of St. Mary's Church, while the Scripture lesson was read by the Rev. Bernard M. Kaplan, rabbi of Temple Emanuel on Abel street.

40 Were Pedestrians

Of the 178 persons sustaining injury, 40 were pedestrians. The following table will show the action of the pedestrian at time of accident.

Crossing at intersection against red light	4
Crossing uncontrolled intersection	6
Crossing intersection diagonally	3
Crossing street between intersections	14
Working in roadway	1
Walking in roadway	4
Playing in roadway	4
Getting on or off other vehicle	1
Walking into roadway, coming from behind parked cars	6

Total 40
20 of the pedestrians injured were under 14 years of age. Pedestrians injured during hours of daylight—25, dusk—1, night time—14.

138 persons sustaining injury were either the driver of or passengers in or upon the vehicles having collision with other motor vehicles or with fixed objects. Of this number 73 were male and 65 were female. 38 drivers of cars sustained injury.

Of the 73 accidents occurring at street intersections during 1941, 28 happened while the intersection was controlled by (a) a patrolman on duty, (b) a traffic light that was functioning, (c) stop sign, (d) caution sign.

During 1941, 3 per cent of all persons sustaining injury in auto accidents were under 4 years of age, 9 per cent under 14 years of age, 25 per cent under 24 years of age, 50 per cent were under 44 years of age, 13 per cent were over 44 years of age.

During 1941 there occurred 15 collisions between motor vehicles and bicycles resulting in injury to 16 persons all of them being either the operator of the cycle or a rider upon the cross bar. All of those injured in this type of accident were under 24 years of age, 14 were male and 2 were female. The aforementioned represents an increase of approximately 30 per cent over the year of 1940, for this type of accident.

There were 183 drivers involved in personal injury accidents during 1941. 155 were male and 28 were female. Their ages were as follows:

Under 15	1
17 to 20	21
21 to 24	33
25 to 34	95
35 to 44	30
Over 44	3

Total 183
120 of the aforementioned drivers were residents of the City of Kingston, 11 were residents of the metropolitan area. The remaining 52 were from elsewhere.

Of the 183 motor vehicles involved in accidents that resulted in injury to some one 161 were passenger cars, 13 were trucks, 4 were tractors with trailers attached, 3 were motorcycles.

Nine of the operators of motor vehicles involved in accidents during 1941, claimed that the accident was caused by vision obscurement in the form of either rain or snow upon their windshield.

Many in Daylight
Of the 123 accidents occurring in 1941 resulting in personal injury, 98 of them occurred between 8 a. m. and 8 p. m.

The following table indicates the speed of vehicle at time of accident.

Standing still (Excl. proper parking location)	19
0 to 10 miles per hour	28
11 to 20 miles per hour	143
21 to 30 miles per hour	3

The following table shows upon which day of the week the accidents occurred.

Monday	20
Tuesday	20
Wednesday	14
Thursday	16
Friday	17

The chief's report follows:
This report sets forth facts and statistics relative to automobile accidents that occurred upon the public streets of the City of Kingston, during the 12 months of 1941 and that resulted to personal injury to some one.

During 1941, there occurred a total of 123 auto accidents, that resulted in injury to 178 persons and death to one. During a storm on the night of November 6, 1941 (6:45 p. m.) a car being operated by Ulman Odell, a resident of this city, came in contact with a car being operated by Louis Perry, also of this city. The accident occurred at the intersection of East Chester and Lincoln streets. Odell died as a result of injuries sustained. The aforesaid intersection is controlled by a stop sign.

The golden anniversary of the city was appropriately celebrated in 1922, with exercises held in the high school auditorium. Mayor Walter P. Crane presided at the exercises, and the music was furnished by the high school orchestra.

The exercises opened with the invocation by the Very Rev. Dean John W. Hickey of St. Mary's Church, while the Scripture lesson was read by the Rev. Bernard M. Kaplan, rabbi of Temple Emanuel on Abel street.

The historical address was delivered by Judge Alphonse T. Clearwater, historian of the city, and it gave in interesting detail the early history of Kingston. The other speaker of the evening was the Rev. Dr. Frank B. Seeley, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church, while the exercises were brought to a close with the pronouncing of the Benediction by the Rev. Dr. Charles G. Ellis, pastor of the Rondout Presbyterian Church.

James G. Lindsley was mayor of Kingston in 1872 when the city was born. The aldermen were F. L. Westbrook, Thomas H. Tremper, John H. Cordts, Charles Bray, Matthew Larkin, George Bug, John Derrenbacher, Jacob Plough, John Pettit, Artemas Sahler, Ethan A. Durham, P. J. Gurnee, M. J. Madden, Anthony Koons, P. A. Canfield, James G. Tubby, Nathaniel Booth and William H. Fredenburgh.

Fifty years later in 1922, Walter P. Crane was mayor of the city and the aldermen were Rudolph C. Dittus, alderman-at-large, and Harry B. Van Wageningen, J. Philip Beichert, Michael A. Cashman, Richard Williams, William J. Keating, William F. Joy, Ralph Mann, Peter O. Kullman, Henry G. Macholdt, Charles Buchholtz, Dr. Henry Behrens, Jr., William B. Martin and Edward J. Ryan.

May Be Accepted
This morning the local United States Army Recruiting Station received the following notice from headquarters in New York on the question whether a man may volunteer for service after he has been called for the pre-induction physical examination: "A Selective Service registrant may be accepted for enlistment in the Army of the United States after his pre-induction physical examination without release from his local board."

Britain has appointed a Director of Civilian Footwear who plans production of low-priced nationally branded footwear for the working classes.

The following table shows type of district in which accident occurred.

Manufacturing or Industrial	6
Shopping or Business	39
Residential	67
School Area or Playground	10
Open or other	1

Of the 183 drivers of vehicles involved in personal injury accidents during 1941, 15 of them actually violated a law or ordinance and as a result of such violation caused the accident. The following is a table of comparative totals for the years of 1940 and 1941.

1941
	No.	Killed
	Acc.
M. V. With
Other M. V.'s..	58	1
Pedestrians ...	40	0
R. R. Train ...	0	0
Bicycle	15	0
Fixed Obj.	7	0

You will note from the foregoing table that there were 9 more accidents in 1941 than there were in 1940 and that these accidents resulted in personal injury to 39 more persons than were injured during 1940.

Consumer Package Popular for Spuds

Modern Merchandising Is Approved by Women

Ithaca, N. Y., Jan. 15.—Grandpa bought his potatoes by the barrel or bushel, but nowadays consumer packages are the thing. In upstate New York the volume of potatoes packed in branded consumer packages has doubled during the past three years, reports Dr. Paul Findlen, agricultural economist at Cornell University.

During the 1940-41 marketing season, farmers and other packers put up nearly half-a-million bushels in pack packages, he says. Further expansion will most likely come, he adds, through dealers, truckers, and cooperative associations who can supply a fairly steady volume to the retail trade during most of the marketing season.

Most of the packaged potatoes have been sold to chain food stores, next to independent stores, and the least to city wholesalers, according to Findlen's studies. The development of self-service super-markets has stimulated the handling of potatoes in branded consumer packages.

Potato sales in retail stores of upstate cities show that the sales of consumer packages was larger in high-income areas where consumers paid for the added cost of packaging and for the better-graded potatoes.

Mr. Findlen says packaging has placed greater emphasis on appearance and that most packers now brush the spuds. The new varieties, such as Katharine or Chippewa which have a light skin and a bright in appearance are popular for packaging.

"Growers should consider these new varieties if they are interested in packaging or in selling potatoes to packers for packaging. Good appearance, and medium-to-large-sized tubers, free from defects, are recommended."

Most studies show an average cost of 15.56 cents a bushel to grade, pack, and brand, as compared with a cost of 7.48 cents for potatoes of equal quality in other containers. Because of the added expense of packaging and handling small units, it is doubtful whether a large volume of consumer packages can be sold to families of low and medium incomes, who eat most of the potatoes, Dr. Findlen says.

While branded consumer packages provide an excellent way to merchandise good quality potatoes," he adds, "growers should consider carefully the extra costs involved and be sure that added prices cover these costs as well as pay for the better quality."

In Police Court
Peter Wilms, 54, of North Bergen, N. J., charged with public intoxication, was fined $5 when he was arraigned before Judge Matthew V. Cahill in police court this morning. According to the police they found Wilms asleep in his truck which was parked on Grand street last night. William Wilson, a negro of East Union street, was fined $5 on a charge of public intoxication. Abraham Bahl of 92 Broadway, charged with operating an auto while his view was obscured by reason of the car being loaded with empty boxes, was given a suspended sentence. Anthony Petrovsky, 70, of Passaic, N. J., charged with disorderly conduct in loitering around the streets without any visible means of support, was given an opportunity to leave the city.

Fat Drivers Dangerous
When a man is too fat to slide behind the auto wheel it does not permit him to drive from the passenger's seat. Such was the emphatic decision of the magistrate at Te Aroha, New Zealand, when a corpulent man was brought into the court for dangerous driving. The arresting officer testified that the individual drove from the passenger seat because he could not sit behind the steering wheel.

Washington ranks first, and New York second, among the states in apple production.

Refugee Problems Discussed At Redeemer Club Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Couple's Club of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer was held Wednesday evening. A delicious baked ham supper was served by the host and hostess, the Rev. and Mrs. Russell Gaenzle, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Danford.

The program for the evening opened with singing accompanied at the piano by Fred DuBois. The guest speaker was the Rev. John Mulenburgh, assistant pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church. Having had considerable experience with the European refugees, he gave an interesting talk on the hardships and struggles of these people who are being uprooted from their country and parted from their loved ones. He told what was being done to establish these refugees in order that they might find peace and happiness here in America. He suggested that the citizens could do their part by being "Good Samaritans," and by putting suspicion and hatred from their minds to show that they are willing to share their friendship.

At the close of his speech the topic was open for discussion and the Rev. Mr. Mulenburgh willingly answered questions. A short business session ended the meeting.

Missionary Society Sewing Bee

On Wednesday, the Missionary Society of the First Reformed Church met at the home of Mrs. A. Noble Graham, 21 Janet street, for an all-day sewing bee. Articles were made for the Kentucky mountaineers. Among those present were: Mrs. Helen E. Doran, Mrs. J. O. Martin, Mrs. Caroline Dickinson, Mrs. Henry Reed, Mrs. Harold Hendman, Mrs. E. O. Allen, Mrs. Charles Clinton, Mrs. James Low, Mrs. Harry Ten Hagen, Mrs. George Davis, Mrs. Milton Elmendorf, Mrs. A. D. Rose, Mrs. Joetta Snyder, Mrs. John Steketee, Mrs. Charles Palmer, Mrs. Herbert C. Greenland, Mrs. Arthur E. Oudemool, Mrs. Henry Keator, Mrs. W. Dean Hayes, Mrs. Harry B. Walker.

Defense Is Topic For Business Girls

Mrs. Charles de la Vergne was the speaker at the regular meeting of the Business Girls' Club of the Y. W. C. A. following their weekly supper Wednesday evening. Mrs. de la Vergne explained the program of the Civilian Defense Council and a discussion followed.

Announcements of plans for the month were made by various chairmen. Miss Bertha Waterman's service committee will have charge of the Sunday afternoon vespers service at the City Home January 18, and members are invited to join the group. Miss Ethel Osterling, president, stated that the class in Red Cross First Aid was starting on that evening at 8 o'clock, with 15 club members enrolled together with 15 members from the Civilian Defense Council.

Miss Dorothy Davis announced that the club would start a book group and asked any member who wished to be included to get in touch with her at once. Miss Elise Fielder, program chairman, stated that the club program next week will consist of glimpses of recent books, with Miss Ruth Smith giving a review of "My Friend, Flicka." At that time it is expected that the spring program will be ready for distribution.

Bundles For Britain Continues, Volunteer Knitters Are Needed

The local chapter Bundles for Britain is continuing with the work the need for which is as great as ever. Contributions of warm clothing and volunteer knitters may still aid in the program. In addition to this work knitted garments for American sailors and fighting forces in the northern countries are especially needed at this time. In order to fill the supply for these articles, the local Bundles for Britain is making an appeal for knitters. Anyone who is willing to assist on either project may do so by contacting the office at 302 Fair street, telephone 3295.

Automobiles Were Becoming Popular In War Days of '17

The Kingston Opera House or the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium were the meccas for theatre going Kingston folk in 1917. "Alias Jimmy Valentine" advertised as the best detective play ever given on the stage, proved popular with the audience. Another combination of love, romance, capital and labor was presented in "The Man Between."

At the opera house Madame Petrova was starring in "Bridges Burned" and also episode No. 10 of "Patria" entitled "War in the Dooryard," being shown with M. Vernon Castle in the leading role. "America's Daintiest Actress," Anita Stewart was playing the title role in "The Girl Philippa" with any seat in the theatre at 25 cents. Included in this show was a concert by a symphony orchestra.

The biggest headline show was the return engagement, April 23, of "Roméo and Juliet" with Theda Bara as the lovely Juliet. Price of admission for this stellar performance was 10 cents at any show.

Automobiles were "most efficient and well-equipped," the Chalmers seven-passenger stock touring car was setting a new record for "flexibility and economy." In a test it traversed the "loop" section in Chicago using high gear only, and without stopping the motor attained a total of 586.8 miles in 24 hours. At this particular trip it averaged 14 miles to a gallon of gasoline.

For summer comfort and winter luxury, the car of the day was the Chandler with deeply upholstered body mounted on springs which would absorb the stress and jolt of the roadway. "The left side door is opposite the driver's seat so that the driver to get in or out does not have to disturb the other occupants." In the rear the auxiliary seats folded down into the backs of the front seat. The forward side windows and the door windows lowered away entirely by adjustable straps. The rear side windows would lower half way but could be entirely removed as well as the window posts.

Business men were urged to modernize by making deliveries with truck instead of by horse and wagon. Trucks could be purchased in 12 easy payments and the suggestion was made to sell the horse and wagon and with the money make the first payment.

Attention automobile owners, at last a universal automobile accessory, read one advertisement. In explanation the reading matter continued, "this spring and summer when you go out in your car, notice how dirt and dust settles on it. This same dirt and dust settles on your head and settles into your hair and on your scalp."

To relieve this condition a shampoo was advised after every automobile trip. In this way it would be an accessory to any car. The slogan for the product, "exhorted automobilists to use the shampoo after every trip and prolong your autoing pleasure."

Then to spend an evening at home the victrola was suggested as a pleasant pastime. The Saxo Sextette were among the best sellers making such recordings as "Bull Frog Blues" and the "Swanee Ripples." To complete the album of the latest records one should include "Cross My Heart and Hope to Die," "She's Dixie All the Time" and "Wonder Girl Good Night."

Dr. Hoffman Will Speak At Y. W. C. A. Annual Meeting

The Y. W. C. A. will hold its annual membership meeting and dinner Friday, January 30, at the association building at 6:30 o'clock. The speaker will be Dr. Milton J. Hoffman, professor at New Brunswick Theological Seminary, and the music will be in charge of Mrs. Henry T. Terpenning. Reports for the year will also be presented and necessary business transacted. Members and friends of the association are asked to reserve the date.

Social Events in Kingston During World War No. 1

One of the highlights of the social season back in 1917 was the Kingston Chautauqua, known as "Kingston's Seven Joyous Days." This was a week-long series of lectures, concerts, operas and other cultural and educational meetings. A program was presented each day at 3 and 8 p. m. One ticket was a subscription for the entire season and could be purchased for $2 per person, factory worker's special $1.25 and school children $1.

The variety on the program that year included a symphonic orchestra, Madame Justine Shannon, contralto; Ross Crane, cartoonist who was famous for his pictures in play; an illustrated war lecture on the European War, a male quartet and several instrumental ensembles. There was a Quest for Happiness play, a talk on Hawaii, and the opera, "Chimes of Normandy," comprising 15 concerts in all.

Because the stage of the high school was not equipped for scenery, the opera was given on a bare stage. People who attend Broadway plays in New York city today noted for their lack of scenery could have witnessed just such a performance in Kingston 25 years ago, it seems in accounts of the opera. The scenery and most of the effects were left to the imagination of the audience. However, the members of the Savage Opera Co. were able to give a convincing rendition in spite of this difficulty. A full cast and orchestra were used and added much to the success of the Chautauqua season.

Always remembering the war which the country had just entered, it was reported that within two weeks the Wilbyway Chapter had finished 40 sets of knitted articles instead of 20 which they had promised. The Parent-Teacher Association at School No. 6 planned to devote Thursday afternoons to Red Cross work. In connection with the work of the civilians, the Ulster Garden Club which had just started its club year decided to push its plan for school gardens to cultivate vegetables and food products.

Some of the clubs were closing their activities for the year and among them was the Soisani-shade Club whose hostesses for the week-end were Mrs. Charles Turner and Mrs. Grover Lasher. Patriotic readings and piano solos were part of the program with Miss Merritt at the piano and recitations by Mrs. Harry Van Wagenen and Miss Cloonan.

Officers were elected for the Monday Club as follows: Mrs. A. V. Kenyon, president; Mrs. John Forsyth, vice-president; Mrs. Charles M. Davis, secretary; Mrs. Turner, treasurer. The Ladies' Aid Society of the Roundout Presbyterian Church also elected at its April meeting. The officers for the coming year were: Miss Kath. J. Huhne, vice-president; Miss Sarah Huber, secretary; and Mrs. George Deudney, treasurer.

Classic and Modern Suites

Illustrated at Musical Society

The Kingston Musical Society met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Henry Millonig, Jr., on Franklin street. A contrast between the classic and modern suite was reviewed by Miss Helen Turner.

Miss Turner first gave a description of the classic suite which was illustrated by the Bach D Minor suite for violin. The four movements were played by Mrs. Florence Cubberley, and are entitled "Allemande," "Courante," "Sarabande," and "Gigue." She gave the development of the Russian music in the brief outline of Rimsky-Korsakoff, which represented the modern suite. As illustrated the four parts of the "Scheherazade Suite" were played. "The Sea and Sinbad's Ship" was

Mr. and Mrs. George Harrison and son, Jon, of New York city, will be the week-end guests of Mrs. Harrison's mother, Mrs. Margaret Gerrow of Devitt street.

The Thursday bridge club met yesterday at the home of Mrs. Stanley Winne, 268 Washington avenue. Honors were won by Mrs. Leonard Flicker and Mrs. Wessels Ten Eyck.

Children Lack Sleep

Too many shows and parties are causing the school children of Auckland, New Zealand, lowered vitality because of loss of sleep, the city's Education Board has discovered. A committee of headmasters reports that 1,975 children attend picture theatres regularly each week, some as many as three, four and five nights a week. An eight-year-old and a First Grade child under seven attended the pictures every night in the week. A total of 3,463 children regularly attend evening gatherings, many of them five nights a week.

played at the piano by Mrs. LeRoy Vogt and she also played excerpts from "The Kalandar Prince." Mrs. William Macgregor Mills chose to play "The Young Prince and the Princess," and Mrs. Walter T. Tremper closed the program with the playing of "The Festival at Bagdad." Miss Turner then drew the comparison between the classic and modern suites.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Raymond Gross and Mrs. Bernard Forst. The next meeting will be February 11.

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "The Personality of a House," "The Book of Social Usage," etc.)

SHOULD SELF-MADE WOMAN INVITE UNLOVABLE RELATIVES TO WEDDING?

"Why must one pretend to love unlovable relatives?"

This question which at first seems callous, comes from a girl who explains further: "By my own unaided work and will to learn, I put myself through college, earned a Ph. D. and now hold a position of great promise. And to put the matter bluntly, I have put myself into a class so far outside of my people back home, that except for filial regard for my parents (because they are my parents) and being glad that I am able to support them and several other operations with them, in their idea of comfort I have nothing in common with them."

Now comes the question of her wedding. She has lived away from home for ten years. To go back there for her wedding, would be to choose a strange town, and still stranger background. Her fiancé whom she met through her professional connections, happens to belong to a family which has had social position for many generations. She has no fear that her relatives will be treated unkindly; she has made a pretense of being anything but a first-generation American, born of immigrant parents, and having no relatives who have ever earned to speak English or bothered to learn American customs.

She says she can not bear the thought of bringing this group on a journey of a thousand miles, to make a perfectly miserable ordeal for everyone close, concerned. She supposes the only thing to do is to go to the clergyman's house and be married and have no wedding, and yet she and her fiancé both have many friends and would like to have a real wedding.

This is one of those questions to which there is no ready happy answer since the real situation is explained in the words unkind and unlovable. Evidently the separation was made definite long ago. Filial feelings, on the other hand, implies a tie of love for her parents, which suggests that they alone be brought the long journey to the wedding. The question of bringing many other relatives such a distance is probably answered in the negative because it would probably be impossible from a financial standpoint.

Husband And Wife Both Doctors
"Dear Mrs. Post: When a wife and husband both practicing M.D.'s, how does one address an envelope to them both?"

Answer: Dr. John and Dr. Mary Smith would be proper.

Mrs. Post is sorry she can no longer answer personal letters. She is glad however to have many printed slips in a variety of subjects to offer to her readers. To-day's slip is "DO YOU KNOW YOUR ABC'S IN MANNERS?" Be sure to end a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Mrs. Post, in care of Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 150, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y. Leaflets cannot be mailed unless self-addressed envelope bears correct amount of postage.

The pastoral relationship, which has existed between the Rev. John Scott King and the Little Britain Church for the past 52 years, was dissolved. At the request of the congregation he was named pastor-emeritus. At the last meeting of presbytery he brought to a close his 40 years of service as stated clerk. In 1899 he was moderator of the Synod of New York.

The Rev. C. Ray was received from the Presbytery of New York and arrangements made for his installation as pastor of the Millerton Church on Thursday, January 22.

The moderator, the Rev. Augustus A. Griffling, pastor of the First Church of America, was granted a leave of absence to serve as chaplain with the U. S. Army. The Rev. D. Linton Doherty, pastor of the Rondout Presbyterian Church,

Kingston, was elected vice moderator.

The Women's Presbyterian Society met in Highland the same day and upon invitation of the presbytery, attended the informal conference of the Committee on United Promotion. The Rev. Charles Moser, chairman. The discussion was led by the Rev. John Scott King.

Presbytery adjourned to meet in the Millerton Church on the evening of January 22.

Citizen's Guide To Armed Forces

Each Branch Has Its Insignia

Do you know all you'd like to know about our Army and Navy set-up? Or do you still wonder how to tell a flyer from an artilleryman, a company from a battalion, a cruiser from a battleship?

You can tell in a second what branch of the service a soldier is in by just glancing at the insignia on his coat lapels. There you see the winged propeller of the air force, crossed cannon of the artillery or crossed rifles of the infantry.

His company consists of about 200 men, commanded by a Captain; the battalion consists of four companies commanded by a Major or a Lieutenant Colonel.

Now, as to cruisers and battleships! A heavy cruiser is a ship of about 10,000 tons which breaks through scouting forces of enemy fleets and gets information. The ace fighting craft is the battleship — 35,000 tons or more.

Our new 32-page booklet tells how our armed forces are organized and commanded, describes activities of the various services. Has picture of Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard insignia — chevrons, branch identifications and special marks. Lists pay of privates, officers.

Send ten cents (plus one cent to cover cost of mailing) for your copy of "Guide to the United States Armed Forces" to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Service, 635 Sixth avenue, New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

Probe of Greene County Is Hinted in State Accounting

Supervisors Journeyed 325,905 Miles and Got $26,072.42 in Mileage

A probe in Greene county is hinted by the report of state auditors on conditions in Greene county where the report, released Wednesday, states that members of the Greene county Board of Supervisors traveled 325,905 miles during 1939 and 1940, receiving $26,072.42 in mileage.

The report by Auditors Ezra F. Ford and Peter J. Leonard reveals that the Board had at least 25 committees and that the county paid more than $53,000 for committee work in 1939 and 1940, compared to about $25,000 in 1927 and 1928. The report states that in counties where extra compensation is not allowed for committee work, few are appointed.

It is also charged that in some 63 cases supervisors made two per diem charges for the same day, some showing attendance at meetings both in Catskill and New York city. The report also calls attention to the eight cent a mile allowance for traveling expenses in Greene county which is twice the state mileage rate.

While the report does not charge there has been any "positive conspiracy to defraud the taxpayers" it states that it is rather a "progressive trend toward building up the legal prerogatives of the office until the costs for the services performed have reached what may be called the saturation point."

FOOD TIPS

FROM THE COOKBOOKLETS

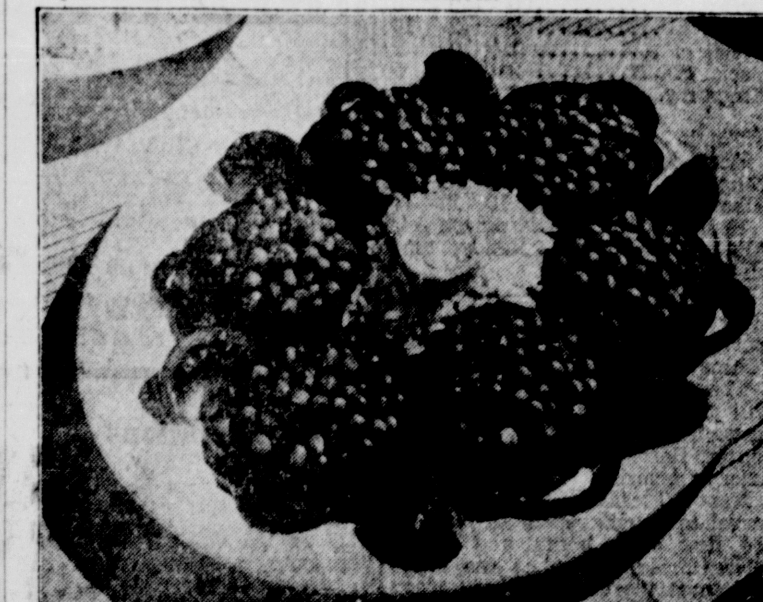

TIMBALES, RING MOLDS, CUPS, AMONG NOVEL WAYS OF SERVING VEGETABLES

Did you know that in order to cook vegetables properly, methods must be selected according to the color of the vegetable? Green vegetables should be cooked in an uncovered kettle, in water that is slightly alkaline to best retain their color and vitamin content. White vegetables, such as cauliflower or onions, should be cooked in softened water. Hard water is apt to change their color to yellow or brown. So, add a teaspoon of lemon juice to retain their color which is produced by acid. Yellow vegetables, in order to keep their content of Vitamin A, should be cooked in a minimum amount of water.

But no matter what the color or type of vegetable you select, do try serving them in new ways to tempt the family every day. Serve your peas heaped in the center of a fish ring or in croquettes. Make potato cups and fill them with carrot slices or peas. The new Cookbooklet, "250 Ways to Prepare Fresh Vegetables" will offer many new suggestions to help you add variety and interest to each vegetable dish you serve.

Here's an easy way to serve peas and rice and it's so attractive, too.

Bologna Cups with Peas
6 (1/4 inch) slices Bologna
2 tablespoons butter
2 cups seasoned cooked peas
2 cups cooked rice
1 peeled tomato

Maroon Plays Monties Tonight; Recs Turn Back Albany, 40-33

Win Gives Either Team Second Place In DUSOCage Loop

Locals Are Given Edge in Important Contest; Sagendorf Leads With 44 Points

Undisputed possession of second place in the DUSO Basketball League will be at stake tonight when Kingston High School travels to Monticello for one of the more important games of the early season.

Judging from the records of the two teams to date, Coach G. Warren Kins' Maroon and White warriors will be favorites. However, both teams are pretty evenly matched and it could go either way.

Talking about the season records, they favor Kingston slightly. The Kinsmen have scored 135 points so far as against 106 for the four opponents. Monticello has collected 104 markers as against 94 for the visiting teams.

Although in a game of this type anything could happen, and usually does, Kingston High School should win it by no more than seven or eight points. It might even be closer.

The Maroons have already described themselves as a real pennant threat in this year's league race. After losing to Middletown 35 to 31 in the opener, the local team has scored victories over Port Jervis, Liberty and Ellenville. Monticello has beaten Port Jervis, Liberty and Ellenville, the same three clubs. Newburgh knocked the mountaineers from the unbeaten list Tuesday night by the score of 31 to 27.

Odds for Maroon
Looking a little closer at the games played finds the edge in favor of Kingston. The Maroons trimmed both Liberty and Ellenville in much more convincing style than did Monticello. This, however, might have nothing to do with the story tonight.

Rod Sagendorf will be the big gun for the Maroons tonight. In the last couple of games he has been a terrific goal-getter and it isn't very likely Monticello will have an easy time in stopping him. Sagendorf's great offensive thrusts have labeled Kingston as the team to watch from now on.

Sagendorf also is getting some good help from Captain Ray Herrick at the other forward slot and George Zelle, operating at the pivot position. Al Zadany and Ed Luedtke have been doing their share in the backcourt.

Meanwhile, the Monties will be calling on Avery and Gray to work at forwards, Larry Prince at center and Mapes and Manny Gellman at the guard positions. Prince is one of the best scorers in the league and Zelle, the Maroon center, will have his hands full keeping him in check.

Rod Sagendorf's recent scoring spurge has rocketed him to the top of the individual scoring list in the loop. Sagendorf has scored 19 fields and six fouls for a total of 44 points. Johnny Dillon of Newburgh follows with 41.

The first 10 are:

	FG	FP	TP
Sagendorf, K.	19	6	44
J. Dillon, N.	17	7	41
Nail, E.	16	7	39

L. Prince, M.	11	8	30
Capozella, M.	12	5	29
Herrick, K.	12	3	27
Gray, M.	12	3	27

The tentative lineups:

Bulls Get War Names

War names are being used to designate domestic animals when they are registered in Scotland.

This was in contrast to a previous sale of Friesian cattle when a bull named "Hitler" proved so unattractive to buyers that its price was the lowest but one.

Pittsburgh Boxer Faced

With Possible End in

Big Time; Fight on

FOR at 10 P. M.

By SID FEDER

New York, Jan. 16 (AP)—Some time between 10 and 11 o'clock tonight, eastern standard time, fear-frenzied Fritzie Zivic is going to find out whether it's chicken or feathers from now on in his career of cauliflowering ears. The fight will be broadcast over WOR at 10 o'clock.

No one knows better than the youngest of Pittsburgh's five flyweights of Zivic's that another beating at the hands of Ray Robinson, Harlem's skinny hammer, in Madison Square Garden will just about wash Fritzie up on the big time.

And, since he has become quite fond of shakes and sodas after his years on coffee and cakes and a peanut truck, Zivic has worked himself into shape to go the full 12 rounds against the negro youngster who has been unbeaten in his 26 outings since he cashed in his A. A. U. card.

What's more, Fritzie has an added incentive, for out of the night's tussle came a chance for the revenge he has been after since Freddie the Red Cochrane took his world welterweight championship away in Elizabeth, N. J., last summer.

Fritzie was to have received a return match, but Cochrane has made no secret of his intention not to give the Pittsburgh playboy the shot.

But Promoter Mike Jacobs has said that tonight's winner will go to work with Freddie the Red for the title February 20 for the benefit of the Fight Infirmary Paralysis Fund. So you can bet Fritzie, always one of the smarter fellows in the business in spite of the occasional bad fights he has put up, won't be out just for the air this time.

That's why this corner goes along with Fritzie-ero to win, although almost any way you look at it Robinson figures to be just as good as the 1 to 2 price tag the betting boys have hung on him.

He came on in the late lurching last October to top Zivic in a ten-rounder. He never has gone over that sprint distance in any trip to the post, but he never has given any signs that he has only early foot. He packs a can of ether in each hand and is as fast as Whirlaway once he's turned loose.

The warriors will have plenty of company for this shindig. Promoter Mike Jacobs figures on playing host to some 12,000 or more of the faithful and expects to find a gate of at least $30,000 when he starts adding up.

Two minutes remained after Rizzo tossed into another set shot and a foul to give the Recreations a 34 to 31 lead. Al Benson, the big center, Hagen Anderson and Buckley worked rings around Albany on the next play with the latter taking the ball and rushing in for another layup. Willie Knapp, who was the star of the last game between these two teams, netted Albany's final points with a set shot.

Anderson's two fouls continued Kingston's all-out drive against Albany and finally Rizzo chuckled a pass to McGuirk who found the hoop for a two-pointer to end the scoring and the game. The fans quickly rushed out on to the court and favored the Recs with congratulations.

Kingston offered one of the best combinations seen here this year in that game last night. While Buckley was the No. 1 performer, plenty of assistance came from McGuirk, Anderson, Rizzo, Benson, Weems, Ed Conaty and Cooper. The latter two were making their first local appearance.

Next Wednesday night the Pittsfield Golden Bears will appear at the auditorium. The Bears will have Ed Krause, the former Notre Dame ace and Harry Fitzpatrick, former Celtic in the lineup in addition to the other stars of the club.

Buckley Rallies Local Quintet to Imposing Victory

Ace Forward Registers 12 Points; Kingston Atones for Defeat by Troy Club Recently

Sparked by Jim Buckley's all-around sensational play, the Kingston Recreations staged a Frank Merriwell finish last night at the municipal auditorium to gain an impressive and hard-fought 40 to 33 victory over the league-leading Albany Senators of the New York State Pro Basketball League.

A goodly turnout of fans jammed into the Broadway court bent on seeing just how bad the Recs must have been after that Troy game Wednesday night. For awhile the fans clearly saw what they had intended.

Then with a lightning-like last period thrust the Recreations into the Senators and didn't let up until the gun sounded giving the locals the game. It was Manager John Conaty's first appearance here as the manager of the Recs.

The way Kingston rallied in the last couple of sessions, Conaty must have given his boys a good talking too.

It was Buckley, who meant the difference between victory and defeat last night. The former guard, now operating at one of the forward berths, did just about everything right in the game. Buckley was the whole show of the big rally which led to victory. He finished up with 12 points.

Albany, seeking to win the games which will clinch the first half of the league, started off on the right foot and looked fairly safe in the first couple of periods. It was 11 to 10 at the end of the first. The Senators had a 21 to 16 margin after two periods of play.

McGuirk Starts Parade

Jack McGuirk, who was announced as the league's top scorer, pushed the Recs into a striking distance at the start of the final period when he found the range for a couple of foul shots. Jerry Rizzo, the former Fordham Ram ace, also came in for a shot.

Kingston now had the Senators on the run and the fans were yelling for a "quick kill" of the upstate quintet.

Showing improvement with every play, the Recs really went to town after the five minute mark. Bill Beck tossed in a foul shot for Albany to make it 31 to 25. After that the Recs were in command.

Jack McGuirk opened the first works with a set shot. The hero of the game, Jim Buckley, dropped in a long setter from the center of the court followed by a quick layup from under the net to tie the score at 31-all.

Two minutes remained after Rizzo tossed into another set shot and a foul to give the Recreations a 34 to 31 lead. Al Benson, the big center, Hagen Anderson and Buckley worked rings around Albany on the next play with the latter taking the ball and rushing in for another layup. Basketball Today

'Tain't The Same As 50 Years Ago

By CLAIR BEE

Long Island University Coach

NEW YORK—Fifty years ago

a young New England teacher gathered his physical education class around him, pointed to peach baskets hanging at either end of the gymnasium, and told the 18 students about a new game.

The new game was basketball. Dr. James A. Naismith had dreamed it up as a means of interesting students in physical exercise, as a game that could be played by the average student.

This year, basketball's golden jubilee year, some 90,000,000 persons will watch that game played by teams representing more than 1,700 colleges, 18,000 high schools, and countless miscellaneous organizations.

Defense Used as Offense May Be the 'New' Basketball

By CLAIR BEE

Long Island University Coach
NEW YORK—In the Rhode Island State basketball game at Kingston, the basketball scoreboards are rigged up to take care of scoring totals which run into three figures. That isn't just wishful thinking. They often use all three figures when Coach Frank Keane's outfit is moving in high gear. Playing Connecticut two years ago—and both teams were undefeated prior to this game—Rhode Island scored 64 points in the first half! The final score was 102 to 81!

The Rhode Islanders don't do it with a defense. They call it a "pressing defense." And believe me, brother, it's pressing.

The Phillips 66 Oilers from Oklahoma showed it the first time I saw it—against an All-Metropolitan team under my direction in Madison Square Garden in 1936. It all broke the players crazy—and me with them.

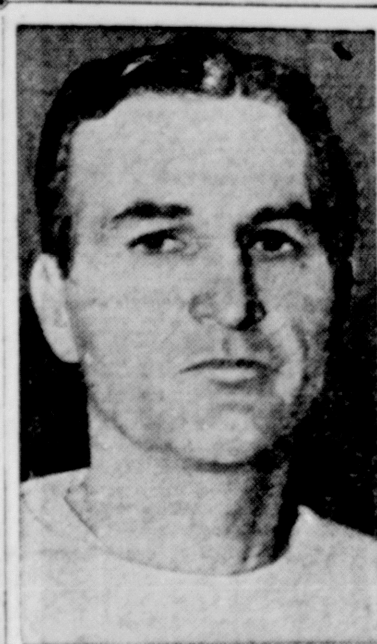

This system is just what it implies—a pressing defense that begins the second the opposing team gets the ball and continues at points on the floor into an error or a held ball. Then, the minute the pressing defense gets its hands on the ball it bang-bang for the basket from any point on the floor.

Rhode Island State, for instance, used the 280-pound son of Coach Keane to retrieve from the backboard. When he came down with the ball he swished it—almost without looking—at a spot near the far basket and one of his teammates usually hit that spot about the same time as the ball.

"Shoot at the slightest opportunity," is about the only idea behind what little offense there is under this system.

The pressing defense takes stamina to the nth degree. It takes clever defense men, opportunists, players strong enough to constantly harass the opposition no matter where the ball may be. The theory is to keep the other team off balance. Players must be coached not to try to steal the ball. That leads to personal fouls. Rather they must force the loss of the ball by error or by a held ball.

This may develop into the "new basketball." Certainly it has crowd appeal—but it takes unusual material and plenty of it!

CLAIRE BEE

my, Tommy, have been kept very busy lately entertaining for charity affairs. She recently received a letter from a booking agent in New York, who is arranging a troupe for a tour of the soldiers' camps along the eastern border to furnish entertainment for the soldiers. Miss Penzato was unable to give them a definite answer for a time due to the illness of her mother. If she can go on the tour she will probably meet the troupe in South Carolina. Miss Penzato is also acting as an air ward and is trying to become an ambulance driver. The only part to hold her back on the latter is the first aid certificate and if Miss Penzato is unable to go on the tour she is planning to take the first aid course which is being given at New Paltz High School by Dr. Virgil DeWitt. She will then have her first aid certificate.

Parent-Teacher Ass'n

Highland Unit
Highland, Jan. 15 — Vincent G. Connelly, attorney for the Board of Water Supply for the City of New York was the opening speaker at the meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association Monday evening in the high school. He spoke on "The Needs of the Red Cross" in view of the sum of $45,000 asked from Ulster county. He said the giving of blood plasma, training for first aid work, Red Cross ambulances, bandages, surgical gauze and so many other needs required the extra sums with world conditions as they are. He was introduced by Michael Nardone, local lawyer.

William H. Maynard, chief of the local fire company gave a talk on the fire fighters. The local company is made up of 50 active men who have taken the fire school training under Chief Neil in Poughkeepsie. He asked individuals to state the nature of the fire if it was necessary for them to dial for help. It facilitated the help the firemen could give upon their arrival. He felt that the firemen were organized for anything that might happen in the future. The air raid warning, he stated, would be a continuous five-minute blowing and the all-clear would be one long blast. He recommended refuge under a table in case of bombing in order to avoid falling plaster and broken glass, and outlined the necessary precautions to be taken in handling a bomb.

Trooper Martin gave much advice in a humorous way that would mean safety on the road or in the home. He told several true instances where accidents had occurred that if the person had stopped to think the trouble would have been avoided, and on stopping to consider often prevented the accident. He concluded with the A-B-C-D-E-F of avoiding accidents: "Always Be Careful, Don't Ever Forget."

Chairman George Accuses Army and Navy of Failure

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the Senate finance committee declared today that the army and navy had "blinded" failed to keep abreast of aircraft developments in modern warfare.

He made the assertion while discussing with newsmen the report of the investigating committee headed by Senator Truman (D-Mo.) which charged yesterday that poor planning and administration had resulted in inadequate and largely "mediocre" warplane production.

"Up until a few weeks ago," George declared, "the army and navy apparently had not afforded the air force its proper place in modern warfare. They were not up to date with their designs and blue print and they hadn't done the work that should have been done."

(In New York last night, John H. Joutet, president of the aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America, took pointed exception to the conclusions of the committee's report.

"In every theatre of the war to date," he asserted, "our American-designed and built warplanes including pursuits and bombers, have shown marked superiority on every occasion in combat with enemy planes and in other actions against enemy forces on land and sea."

Publication of the Truman committee's report brought expressions of support from several members for continuation of the group as a war-time investigating body. The committee has asked for an additional $100,000 to further its work, and as soon as the report was made public, several senators urged that more funds be granted.

Senator Hill (D-Ala.), the Democratic whip, said he thought the committee report ought to have a "very wholesome effect" on the defense setup. The report charged shortsighted and inefficient administration by government officials, as well as selfishness on the part of private interests.

Congress Is Asked To Halt Sales of Alcohol to Troops

Texas Senator Appears as Sponsor of Bill Originally Framed by Sheppard

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—The long buried "wet or dry" issue was revived in Congress today—22 years to the day after the birth of national prohibition and nine years after its death—with Senate consideration of a proposal to halt the sale of beer and wine at army or navy posts.

Senator O'Daniel (D. Tex.) sought to bring before the chamber a bill introduced originally by his predecessor, the late Senator Morris Sheppard, often called "the father of prohibition."

Sheppard annually addressed the Senate on each post-appeal anniversary of the ratification of the national prohibition amendment, predicting the eventual return of the nation to a "dry" status. O'Daniel, following in Sheppard's footsteps, told reporters he hoped to force a vote today on his predecessor's proposal.

The Sheppard bill would ban the sales of liquor, including beer and wines, at all military establishments and would give the war and navy departments supervision over such sales in adjacent areas. In addition, it would provide for the suppression of vice in the areas around military camps.

Opposition Expected
Army and navy opposition to the measure in its present form, however, was expected to bring an administrative move to return the bill to the military affairs committee for revision. The committee reported it without recommendation on May 16, as an emergency defense measure.

In a letter to the committee, Secretary Stimson said the war department fully realized that it would be highly desirable from many points of view to have an army in which there was no drunkenness.

"However," Stimson added, "knowing the frailties of human nature and realizing that habits of temperance of intemperance are developed long before the individual becomes a soldier, the war department is convinced that temperance cannot be obtained by prohibition applied to its personnel any more than it can be attained by prohibition applied to the nation at large."

Stimson pointed out that the sale of beer and wines of not more than 3.2 alcoholic content by weight is permitted at army posts, but the sale of liquor is banned. He said this policy had resulted in a higher degree of temperance than was attained either in or out of the army in the days of national prohibition.

O'Daniel said he was proposing the bill as a war-time measure, because he believed a complete ban on all alcoholic drinks at army and navy establishments would increase the efficiency of the armed forces.

(Castillo declared "our ideas and our necessities . . . naturally can differ from those of other countries without any difference implying any irreconcilable division, reserve or opposition.")

(He said he believed Argentina's foreign policy of regarding the United States as a non-belligerent "can be much more useful than any other extreme position and will make it possible to collaborate with the United States which few other American countries can offer.")

(Argentine foreign policy, the president added, may not be "so spectacular as some may wish" but nevertheless it is "as serious, loyal and useful as any in the common cause of America.")

The conference opened yesterday afternoon with a round of speeches which sounded a harmonious note.

Ruiz Guinazu vigorously applauded with the other delegates references by United States under-secretary of State Sumner Welles, leader of the U. S. delegation, to the "shibboleth of classic neutrality" and "illusory neutrality" in his speech.

Welles indicated he desired the Americas to break outright with the Axis—"seal off the hemisphere from contagion," as another member of the U. S. delegation put it. Much of Welles' speech was devoted to the dangers of continued operation of Axis diplomats and consuls in the Americas.

Of two major recommendations by the governor, other reliable sources said little or no opposition is likely for a proposal the state defense council be given enforceable command of all defense activity.

This generally was conceded "necessary to any unified and effective defense action in emergencies."

A suggestion the state defense council be empowered to remove local officials who defy orders of local defense councils was viewed by some legislators, however, as "potentially dangerous."

Although Lehman recommended at least three local defense councilmen subscribe to the complaint and the accused be given a hearing, the legislature would require careful wording to protect officials adequately.

Argentina Might Swing Into Line Opposed to Axis

Sister Republics Exert Pressure, but Border Dispute May Block Unanimity

Rio de Janeiro, Jan. 16 (AP)—Indications that Argentina had changed her position and might swing into line with her sister republics in a resolution calling for a break of all relations with the Axis powers were seen today in informed quarters as the conference of American foreign ministers swung into action.

Pre-conference talks between her representatives and other conference leaders, in which Argentina was said to have been brought under considerable pressure by her sister republics, were believed to have averted a deadlock on the issue.

The last obstacle to accord, however, was not yet removed. On servers expressed the belief that the border dispute between Peru and Ecuador left a stumbling block in the path of harmonious action.

Indications were that the resolution calling for a 100 per cent break in relations with the Axis would be tested today. It was placed before the conference this morning by Colombia's representative, Gabriel Turbay, ambassador to Washington.

Grandma Tests Great Highway

Adventurous Motorist Finds Pan-American Road Is Practical.

LIMA, PERU.—Mrs. A. S. Henley, 53-year-old grandmother from Glendale, Calif., has proved to the world at large that the Pan-American highway, connecting the United States and Argentina, is something more than charts in government offices, or mule trails through jungles and over mountains.

Nearly a year ago Mrs. Henley started driving from Rio de Janeiro on a pleasure trip. Today, after having explored much of Brazil, Uruguay, Argentina, Chile, Bolivia and Peru, she figures she still has ahead of her four months of driving through Ecuador, Colombia, Venezuela, parts of Central America, and Mexico before reaching home.

The adventurous Californian, who learned how to drive when she was 43, and who never has been east of the Mississippi in her own country, has become quite a booster for the highway. The idea of using her trip to advertise the highway was first put to her by United States Ambassador Claude G. Bowers in Chile. Since that time she has spoken in public and over the radio, written for newspapers, and, in general, become one of the hemispheric road's leading promoters.

Highway Practical. "Current opinion maligns the highway," she says with some heat. "The general impression is that it is very difficult. We are finding that it is not difficult, but very practical, especially if you stick to the highway."

Mrs. Henley can proudly claim that she knows South America better than most South Americans do. She has "rounded the Horn" by automobile, taking a side trip to the world's southernmost settlement of Aushuaia, Argentina, far below the Straits of Magellan. She has crossed the 15,805-foot summit of the world's highest highway near Tielio, Peru, on the way to Lima. She has motored through the flowering Brazilian tropics, across the rolling cattle plains of Uruguay, through the heart of the Chilean lake country, and over the wild Bolivian Andes.

No Flat Tires. So far, Mrs. Henley estimates that her 1940 American station wagon has covered about 20,000 miles of South American roads. In all that distance she has had no punctured tires, although she had two punctures driving from her home in Glendale to New Orleans where she boarded a ship for Rio. She has had no motor trouble and no accidents. She had a new set of larger tires put on her car to raise it higher off the road, and had the brakes relined twice.

Since Santiago she has done all the driving. The only time her nerves fail her is when she reaches a large city. She then moves over and lets Hector Burr, her traveling companion, take the wheel.

She said the trip so far has been neither unduly expensive, nor dangerous. Gasoline, in most places, costs no more than in the United States; frequently it was cheaper. Hotel accommodation and garage space expenses proved extremely reasonable.

Freshman Coeds Storm Citadel of Engineering

SEATTLE.—Only four women have been graduated from the University of Washington's college of engineering in the last five years—but that doesn't discourage Alice Johnson and Peggy De Merchant, two optimistic freshmen co-eds. Miss Johnson enrolled in electrical engineering and Miss De Merchant in aeronautical engineering. If they get any encouragement, it will be from their freshmen engineering advisor, E. R. Wilcox. His daughter was graduated from the engineering school and now is a junior engineer in the army.

Childless Monkey Wins Fight to Keep Kitten

MACON, GA.—Fannie Simpson, a childless but maternal monkey, came down to earth but wouldn't give up the gray and white kitten she's adopted.

L. H. Colquitt, garageman, gave Fannie to a friend, but two days ago she returned, carrying the kitten, climbed high into the rafters and refused to come down. Then she played around the garage with the kitten but fought off all human moves toward her foster child. The kitten seems perfectly happy, so Colquitt has decided to give up the rescue efforts.

Seeding From Airplane Is Latest Farm Wrinkle

OMAHA.—Sowing wheat from an airplane is the coming thing for large scale grain farmers, Wilber White believes.

The Poplar, Mont., flying farmer said while here on business he harvested 35 acres of the best wheat he had grown in 20 years from an airplane-seeded field. The trick was done by mounting a small hopper on his ship, then calculating wind velocity and propeller blast.

Officers Installed at Kiwanis Dinner and Dance Last Evening

Freeman Photo

Kiwanis Installs Staff, Hears Talk By Area Governor

Henry Darrow Takes Post as President; Wives, Other Guests Are at Ceremonies

A plea for moral rearmament and a return to the fundamental principles of religion as essentials, if America is to emerge victorious against the forces which have kindled a world-wide conflagration, was voiced by Edward A. Dolph of Newburgh, Kiwanis district governor of New York state, speaking at the Governor Clinton Hotel Thursday night at the annual installation dinner and dance of the Kingston Kiwanis Club.

A similar thought was expressed by Henry D. Darrow, following his installation as president of the club for 1942, when he said "The future of our country depends upon the moral character of its people, the school and the church."

The affair was the most largely attended of any of these annual gatherings, with Kiwanians, their wives and guests to the number of 140 sitting down to the dinner which preceded the installation ceremonies, the address by Governor Dolph and the dancing which closed the evening.

Following Kiwanian custom the evening program opened with singing of America and the Canadian national anthem. William C. Kingman offered the invocation which preceded the service of the dinner.

Darrow Is President Joseph F. Deegan, retiring president, presided during the opening part of the program. He presented the visitors and guests at the speakers' table, including Governor and Mrs. Dolph, Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Donald W. Lake of Port Jervis, former Lieutenant Governor Harry Hopper of Beacon, former Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Roger H. Loughran of Kingston, Mayor William Edelmuth and Mrs. Edelmuth, President-elect Henry D. Darrow, and Mrs. Darrow, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. R. Frederick Chidsey, Mrs. Deegan and Harry S. Ensign.

He thanked the members for their cooperation during the year and the record they had helped to make, including an attendance record considerably higher than the average for the state.

Fifteen members who had a record of 100 per cent attendance for the year or longer were introduced, and each was presented with a folder containing defense stamps.

The list included Allen A. Baker, Vincent G. Connelly, Joseph F. Deegan, Harry S. Ensign, William F. Leehive, Isidor Sampson, George B. Styles, with perfect record for one year; Pratt Boice, Harry duBois Frey, Howard R. St. John, two years; George B. Matthews, six years; Joseph F. Stout, nine years; William B. Byrne, 10 years; Paul A. Zucca, 12 years; R. Frederick Chidsey, 16 years.

"Great Scott," exclaimed one of the guests in the audience, as the last named record was called out.

President Deegan then presented to his successor, Mr. Darrow, the president's pin and turned over to him the gavel of authority.

In assuming his office Mr. Darrow referred to the honor of having present for the occasion both the governor and lieutenant governor of the district. He expressed the appreciation of the club for the work done the past year under the leadership of Mr. Deegan and asked members to share with him the responsibility for carrying on the work this year and striving to make a still better record.

He stressed the importance of the club's work for boys and girls, saying, "Just think what a difference it might have made to the whole world if the youth of Germany had been given the right kind of training during the past 20 years, instead of having been brought up on propaganda based on lies."

In closing he said, "This year, through no choice of our own, is to be our 'all out war year'—a year of hard work, self-sacrifice, worry, disappointments, heartaches, possibly the giving up of all our worldly goods, and for many it may mean the losing of faith and life itself. This cannot be the case, however, if you give of yourself in the help and guidance of others to weather the storm. Whatever the cost, keep the faith, support your church. If you have no church find one, and that right soon. The future of our country depends on the support given to the home, the school and the church."

The past president's pin was presented to Mr. Deegan by Roger H. Loughran.

The installation of the newly elected officers and trustees followed. Lieut. Governor Lake being the installing officer. Inducted into office were: Henry D. Darrow, president; Joseph F. Deegan, immediate past president; George B. Matthews, vice-president; Harry S. Ensign, treasurer; R. Frederick Chidsey, secretary; Allen A. Baker, Harry duBois Frey, directors for three years.

Dolph Gives Address After singing of God Bless America by the assemblage and songs by Ann Smiley of the Governor Clinton Hotel, District Governor Dolph was introduced for the address of the evening.

At the request of a number of the ladies present, he said, Governor Dolph devoted a large portion of his excellent address to a description of the Philippines, speaking from his own experience there, he having been a battery commander at Fort Corregidor 20 years ago.

He spoke of the 8,000 miles of distance to be covered in reaching the islands from San Francisco and the fact that when he made the trip it took about a month of sailing. From 80 to 100 different languages are spoken in the islands, the largest of which, Luzon, is about the size of Connecticut.

Mr. Dolph told of the different tribes that inhabit the Philippines—the fierce and warlike Morros in the south, the head-hunting Igorotes in the north, fine physical specimens, the pigmy tribe and others.

The speaker stressed the importance of the Philippines, not only as advance posts for the defense of the Pacific (as was supposed) and to maintain trade with the Far East, but for their many valuable products, including fine hardwoods, gold, hemp, sugar and other articles.

As to fortifications, 20 years ago Corregidor was heavily fortified, but other posts were lightly occupied. Of interest was his statement regarding maneuvers in which he participated over the same ground that has of late been the scene of fighting and that following those maneuvers they decided that in case of war just what has happened of late would take place.

Batan, in which General MacArthur and the American and Filipino troops are fighting, he said, is a country of dense jungle and mountains. He said that he would like to believe that General MacArthur could hold out, but that in any event, ultimate victory will be on the side of the United States and Japan will be made to pay for all that has been done and will be driven out of the islands.

Speaking of Kiwanis and the war, the speaker said that the day after the attack on Pearl Harbor the president of Kiwanis International sent a telegram to President Roosevelt stating that the organization was squarely back of him. Kiwanis is so organized that it can be of help and booklets have been sent to presidents of all clubs outlining possible activities that members may take part in and urging every committee to plan for action. We feel that the fate of America is the fate of the world, Governor Dolph said.

The greatest conflagration the world has ever known has been sweeping onward for the past two years, said the speaker; what it is going to cost no man knows, but America is resolved that this war shall not have been in vain.

Victory was seen certain through united effort, with every individual contributing his utmost of service. There must be moral rearmament and the preservation of spiritual and cultural values, declared the speaker, and to this end it was seen to be absolutely necessary to restore and preserve the old-fashioned home and to get back to the fundamental principles of religion.

There can be no hope of victory without these, it was declared. In stressing the need of something more than a ring of steel to preserve a nation, Governor Dolph remarked that the Great Wall of China was not breached, but that the gate keepers were bribed to permit the foe to enter, and that it was not the fault of the great Maginot Line that France fell, but the smug, complacent, satisfied attitude of the people themselves.

The evening closed with dancing to music by Zucca's orchestra. Zucca, with Dan Bittner at the piano, also led the guests in singing during the evening.
